Super day planned for Superman

METROPOLIS, Ill. (UPI) — Superman, fearless crusader for truth, justice and the American way, will be feted tonight at a 35th birthday celebration in the town that adopted him.

Since the comic book dogooder hails from the planet Krypton, naturally they're billing the affair the "first birthday party for an alien."

But Metropolis has taken Superman to its heart, and the birthday party is only a prelude for bigger things to come.

Saturday, as 1,000 helium-filled balloons are released and the last notes of the National Anthem played by the Ft. Campbell (Ky.)

"Screaming Eagles" waft across the Ohio River, the "Amazing World of Superman" exhibition center will be opened to the public.

This Southern Illinois town of 7,000 persons adopted Superman Jan. 21, 1972. City fathers say it's the only place the world named Metropolis—the name of the imaginary city in which Superman, masquerading as mild-mannered reporter Clark Kent, performed his good deeds.

The local newspaper, the Metropolis News, changed its name to the Metropolis Planet, Clark Kent's newspaper. A locally organized group, Metropolis Recreation Inc., negotiated with National Periodical Publications Inc., of New York, owner of Superman rights, for permission to present the world's largest collection of Superman memorabilia—including the world's largest mural of Superman, a model of Superboy's home and "Kryptonite exhibits."

Superman will be on hand, of course, to greet and talk to youngsters, and already the promoters have booked visits by children of seven elementary schools.

Mike Forbes, 28, a Marion high school English and psychology teacher, will quit his job to take the role on a fulltime basis. A former shotputter at Murray (Ky.) State College, he's 6 feet, 6 1/2 inches tall, weighs 250 pounds and "really looks the part."

At least, so says Bob Westerfield, former professional football player who launched the Superman campaign.

Leslie Easterday, 65, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said Superman "has put us on the map." Superman promoters credit the promotion with bringing at least one new industry to town.

"We don't have any more rental homes left in Metropolis," Easterday said, "and we've had more industrial inquiries in the last 18 months than we had in the prior 18 years."

Ten P.V. coaches quit

By JOE MIEGOC
Pocono Record Reporter

BRODHEADSVILLE — Ten coaches in the Pleasant Valley School District will not be on the sidelines during the next school year due to a decision by the district's Board of Education Thursday night.

The board refused to go along with a request by the coaches to let three elementary teachers out of their work schedules to join school teachers in team practices. The coaches, who had threatened to resign en masse if the solution wasn't worked out, promptly did so.

The dispute was caused by moving up the high school release time to 2:34 p.m., thus keeping the elementary teachers from leaving their classrooms before 3:40 and making them miss the start of practices.

"We must think of the teachers, the pupils, the administrators, the people, the taxpayers, the school bus drivers," said John Rinker, president of the board.

"We've worked our heads off for a solution. We're not discriminating against anybody."

"If you say we're discriminating against athletics, you're wrong. I'm as athletically-minded as anyone and I intend to support our athletics," he said.

"But you must learn in this day and age that compromises must be made. I'm sorry, that's it," he said. Rinker then left the meeting room, visibly upset.

During an impromptu "discussion" in the period immediately prior to Rinker's speech, a coach present in the large gathering on hand to hear the meeting, said the board was "discriminating against coaches who weren't secondary teachers."

"It's just discriminatory. You're bending over all the way for one coach, part-way for another and not at all for the third," he said, replying to a board offer to let one coach out after practices all week, another out two practices per week and the third, the junior varsity baseball coach, not out at all, forcing him to relinquish the position.

Through the means the board suggested as its compromise offer, the girls' field hockey coach would be available all week for 2:30 p.m. practice, an assistant football coach would be available Monday and Wednesday for an earlier practice time, with practice the remaining days moved back, and the junior varsity baseball coach would not be available at all.

At the recent meeting of the athletic council, the coaches had, according to Secondary Education Supervisor John Nye, "voted on the principle that the board's policy was discriminatory."

But Rinker, in an emotional speech, denied this was so and said he had asked Elementary Supervisor Harrie Blood to alleviate the problem, "which he did."

"We're running the schools from an academic standpoint," said Rinker. "There's no more pro-athletics than me. Let's rescind our last motion and adopt this compromise instead," he added.

The "last motion" had been worded to the effect that coaches who were not teachers in the secondary school would not be allowed to coach sports. The move also would have prohibited the board from hiring anyone other than a secondary education-qualified person.

"We rejected that so-called compromise at the athletic council and we reject it now," said Robert Catina, a coach. "We intend to resign en masse."

Rinker countered by saying the coaches "couldn't resign because we don't officially hire them until the June board meeting."

Catina responded by saying the coaches did not wish to be considered for any coaching openings in June. "That's it, the door is closed, unless the board reopens it," said another coach.

Launch set for 9 a.m. today

Skylab systems 'go'!

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Engineers completed last-minute modifications of contraptions designed to cure the problems of America's Skylab space station Thursday and cleared the way for three astronauts to blast off today on an unprecedented space repair mission.

Veteran astronaut Charles "Pete" Conrad and first-time space travelers Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz were scheduled to be launched at 9 a.m. EDT today in an Apollo spacecraft to chase down the orbiting Skylab, try to free a jammed solar energy arm and rig sunshades to stop overheating and make the space station habitable.

Mission officials waited until late Thursday to decide on three types of shades the astronauts will carry with them, a giant parasol that can be erected from inside the $294 million Skylab and—if that doesn't work—two awning-like contraptions which would require the astronauts to venture outside their spacecraft to rig.

While jet planes stood by to fly the sun shields to the spaceport and the astronauts went through final reviews of their challenging mission, the countdown toward liftoff of the 6-year-old Saturn 1B rocket continued smoothly.

"We are very confident that when we do get up there we will be able to deploy a shield, we will get the space station temperatures back under control and we will have a good 28-day mission," said Skylab project director William Schneider.

Chief astronaut Donald "Deke" Slayton reported that moon landing veteran Conrad and his crew of space rookies—all Navy officers—were "ready to fly."

'Security' speech cheered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon Thursday told cheering former prisoners of war that he was determined to protect the nation's classified documents from "people who steal secrets and publish them in the newspaper."

"Had we not had that kind of secrecy ... you men would still be in Hanoi," the President told the POWs in a half-hour-long speech preceding a gala White House dinner honoring the former POWs.

Echoing the national security section of his explanation earlier this week of the Watergate affair, the President said without secrecy his administration would have been unable to have negotiated an end to the War in Vietnam and arms control agreement with the Soviet Union or new contacts with China.

"I say it is time to stop making heroes out of those people who steal secrets and publish them in the newspapers," Nixon said.

His audience, most of them in uniform but a few in civilian clothes, rose spontaneously and gave him a standing ovation.

The President did not say whether he was referring to Daniel Ellsberg, who gave the Pentagon Papers to the New York Times and other newspapers, former White House counsel John W. Dean III, who placed a classified internal plan in a safe deposit box where it ultimately could become public.

Schools, government lose negligence suit immunity

HARRISBURG (UPI) — In a landmark decision, the state Supreme Court has abolished the legal doctrine that gives local governments and school districts immunity from negligence suits.

In a 4-3 decision released Thursday on a Philadelphia case, the high court, said the doctrine of sovereign immunity was "antiquated" and "long since devoid of any valid justification."

However, in a separate opinion on a Delaware County case, the court upheld the immunity of state government from damage suits filed by citizens on grounds it is protected by the Pennsylvania Constitution.

In the Philadelphia case, the court said William Ayala had the right to sue the city's school board to recover damages suffered by his son, William Jr.

The youth lost his arm when it was caught in a shredding machine in an upholstery class at Carroll School. Ayala claimed the school district was negligent because it failed to supervise the class or provide safety devices on the machine.

In an opinion by Justice Samuel J. Roberts, the court said it was "unwilling to perpetuate the notion that it is better that an individual should sustain an injury than that the public should suffer inconvenience."

In the Delaware County case, the court ruled 4-3 that Donna Brown, Philadelphia, could not sue the state for injuries she suffered when she fell from a National Guard jeep on an outing at Meadowbrook.

U.S. Rep. commits suicide

EASTON, Md. (UPI) — Rep. William O. Mills, R-Md., an amiable and popular conservative, apparently killed himself with a shotgun blast Thursday following disclosures that secret Nixon re-election funds were funneled into his 1971 campaign.

Sources close to the investigation said Mills, 48, left seven suicide notes before firing a 12-gauge shotgun into his chest at a farm near here where he kept five horses.

The contents of the notes were not disclosed by local authorities, who took them from his body and refused to confirm or deny their existence.

Mills left his house about 6:45 a. m. Thursday to go to Mulberry Farm, about two miles away. About 15 minutes later the caretaker heard a shot in the barn. He found Mills' body with the shotgun beside it.

Authorities would not say if they had determined the ownership of the shotgun and refused to say outright that it was a suicide. The state medical examiner performed an autopsy but declined to complete the death certificate until it was formally determined that Mills fired the shotgun.

Watergate burglar claims scheme involved Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Watergate raids were prompted in part by a burning desire to liberate Cuba, fears that Fidel Castro's government was funding Democratic candidates and a blind loyalty to superiors, convicted conspirator Bernard L. Barker testified Thursday.

His voice sometimes breaking with emotion, Barker told the Senate Watergate committee he and three other Miami-area men arrested with him—all with Cuban connections—had gone along with the bugging and burglary at Democratic National Committee headquarters because they were assured it was "a matter of national security."

Continually referring to the Watergate raids last spring as a "paramilitary operation," Barker said one thing the spy squad was after was evidence linking Cuban campaign contributions to Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and perhaps to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

"I have the greatest respect for Sen. McGovern both as a senator and as a presidential candidate," Barker said. "I disagree personally with his type of philosophy...it's the kind I've seen turn Cuba into a Communist state."

It was the first time the Cuban-born Barker had testified publicly about his Watergate role, and he appeared under a court-ordered promise of immunity from further prosecution—covering, apparently, even his admission he participated in the 1971 break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

There were these further developments as the Senate Watergate Committee wrapped up a fifth day of televised public hearings and recessed until June 5:

—Harold H. Titus, the U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia, said new Watergate indictments are expected within 60 to 90 days and that a "key member of the criminal conspiracy" whom he did not name had agreed to plead guilty and testify as a prosecution witness at any subsequent trial. He also said the three-man prosecution team that handled the first Watergate case would stay on the job at the request of the new special prosecutor, Archibald Cox.

—John J. Caulfield, who testified before the committee twice this week about how he relayed offers of executive clemency from "the highest levels of the White House" to one of the Watergate conspirators, was fired from his high law enforcement job at the Treasury Department.

Bugging cover-up tipped off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Associates of wealthy Republicans who contributed to President Nixon's re-election campaign tipped Watergate investigators of a cover-up in advance of James McCord's decision to reveal what he knew about the break-in scandal, the New York Daily News reported Thursday.

The News, citing informed government sources in its today's edition, said in a copy-righted story the reason for the cover-up of the June 17, 1972 burglary was the "fear that the alleged secret funding of break-in operations would be made public and further embarrass President Nixon."

The News sources said certain administration figures, so far unidentified, pressed for secret contributions from wealthy Republican donors after the April 7 campaign finance law went into effect. The law requires full disclosure of contributions after the April date.

Denenberg strikes again

HARRISBURG — State Insurance Commissioner Herbert Denenberg Thursday ordered all insurance companies to submit new rate proposals for their auto and homeowners insurance. Denenberg said it was a new way to ride herd on the insurance companies. He said he wanted companies to submit their rate proposal within 30 days. The Insurance Department has the power to approve or disapprove any rate changes.

'God save the cod'

REYKJAVIK — Nearly 5,000 demonstrators smashed the windows of the British embassy Thursday night after a rally to protest British fishing within Iceland's 50 nautical mile territorial limit. The crowd, some of them with signs reading "God save the Cod," gathered for the meeting, a police spokesman said.

College still strike-bound

YELLOW SPRINGS — Antioch College administrators planned another move to reopen the strike-bound school Friday, but striking students said they would block the building with human chains to keep the college officials out. Nonstriking students continued their attempts to resume classes through court action. Testimony began in nearby Xenia Thursday in a temporary injunction suit sought by nonstrikers but there was no idea when a ruling would be made.

Bunglers botch mutiny

ATHENS — Incompetence of the plotters and decisive action by the commander-in-chief of the Greek armed forces foiled a planned navy mutiny to hijack three ships and broadcast anti-government propaganda from the high seas, the government said Thursday. The mutiny had been planned for Wednesday morning by two retired admirals and "a number of misled officers counted on the fingers of one hand." All the plotters were arrested the night before.

Troop withdrawals discussed

VIENNA — Delegates from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Communist Warsaw Pact nations Thursday settled down after three and a half months of procedural delays and began working out an agenda for a full-dress conference on East-West troop reductions in Central Europe. The 19 negotiators from the United States and the Soviet Union and their allies in the Western and Communist camps discussed the agenda, date and place for the full conference.

Explosive party

TRENTON — An explosion, apparently triggered by dynamite, blew a two-foot hole in one side of a building Thursday as members of a motorcycle club were holding a party, police said. There were no injuries, but windows in a row of houses as far as 150 feet from the clubhouse belonging to the Breed, were shattered along with one car parked directly in front of the building. The investigation is continuing.

Gasoline shortage could alter Memorial Day trips

By United Press International

Thousands of motorists take off on their annual Memorial Day trips this weekend but this year in scattered areas across the country a gasoline shortage could alter their plans.

Shortages hit some areas harder than others, but already there are reports of service stations closing and the price of gas rising.

"It's gonna be tight," a Gulf Oil Co. spokesman said. "Cross your fingers. There could be some spot shortages. We've been telling the public about the energy crisis three or four years, but they act like they don't believe us."

A Shell spokesman said he expected his company to provide "our dealers with gasoline to meet their estimated customer demands but obviously if competing companies are not able to supply their dealers then their customers will look other places for their gasoline so there is no way to directly answer the question 'Will Shell run short of gasoline this Memorial Day weekend?'"

Some oilmen like Ralph Porcelli of the Gasoline Retailers Association of metropolitan Chicago are skeptical of reports of shortages.

"It's a man-made shortage to force out the independent dealers who have been able to keep prices 3 to 7 cents a gallon lower than the major brand dealers," Porcelli said. "The big companies want to knock the little guys down. The oil companies are trying to force the government to restore the depletion allowance they lost a few years ago. The companies are not performing for the best interests of the public."

But a spokesman for Standard Oil Co. of Indiana said, "Definitely, a shortage exists around Chicago. The projections indicate supplies will get tighter as summer goes on. It looks like there will be problems with heating oil this winter, too."

Second top official resigns

British sex scandal grows

LONDON (UPI) — Earl Jellicoe, Lord Privy Seal and leader of the House of Lords, quit Thursday, shaking the government with its second top-level resignation in Britain's most sensational sex, security and drugs scandal in a decade.

Jellicoe, 55, admitted "some casual affairs" with "a ring of call girls." Prime Minister Edward Heath told Parliament four hours after Jellicoe's resignation that no national security had been breached but that he had ordered a further investigation.

The language of Jellicoe in his resignation was almost identical to that used Tuesday by Lord Lambton, 50, the first government minister to resign.

Lambton, former parliamentary undersecretary for the Royal Air Force, blew wide open Wednesday a top-level sexual scandal with remarkable parallels to the "Profumo affair" of 1963, which almost toppled the government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Heath told a packed House of Commons, "I have done my utmost to ensure the security of the state is safeguarded and I have taken all the measures to ensure this and have received every assurance it has been done."

Lambton, who resigned 36 hours before Jellicoe, admitted having relations with call girls, but police also served him a summons charging unlawful possession of marijuana and amphetamines — something he denied emphatically.

Jellicoe's resignation was, if anything, the more sensational of the two. The job of lord privy seal is a sinecure, but it carries high prestige and means a seat in the cabinet.

Jellicoe was responsible for the civil service as well as acting as chief government whip in the upper house, the House of Lords.

U.S. achieves trade surplus for first time in 19 months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States achieved its first trade surplus in 19 months in April as the value of exports exceeded imports by $186 million, the Commerce Department reported Thursday.

It was the second straight month of dramatic improvement in foreign trade. Despite two dollar devaluations designed to make exports more competitive abroad and imports more expensive for American consumers, the trade balance has been in the red for the past year and a half.

But in March, chiefly on the strength of a big airplane sale plus continued heavy exports of American feed grains, the deficits narrowed from $476 million to $53 million.

In April, the balance broke into the black for the first time since September, 1971.

Continued hard agriculture exports plus heavier shipments of chemicals and other industrial materials coupled with a decline in imports of automobiles from Canada, Western Europe and Japan were behind the April improvement, according to Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent.

Dent said the two-month upswing was "not necessarily indicative of longer trends." This was an implied warning that the trade balance could easily slip in the months ahead. Nevertheless, the administration thought enough of the news to release the trade figures a day ahead of schedule and call a press conference, an unusual step for a routine economic report.

Exports in April rose 2 per cent from March to a seasonally adjusted $5.49 billion. Imports declined 2.6 per cent to $5.20 billion. It was the second straight monthly drop in imports and the third month in a row that exports have reached record levels.

"The continued improvement in our trade position in April is thought to be significant since exports are showing considerable strength and imports are turning sluggish ... it is too early, however, to predict the extent of improvement in the trade balance for the year as a whole," Dent said.

The import-export balance is one way a nation measures its financial dealings with foreign nations. Although the U.S. trade balance has perked up, other measures of the balance of payments, which compute long and short-term capital flows and investment abroad are still deeply in deficit.

Heath told Parliament there was no reason to suppose that any other ministers were involved. But British newspapers continued to print unconfirmed reports that an unidentified duke outside the government and several other ministers also might be implicated.

Five removed from room

Senate hearings disrupted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate hearings were interrupted Thursday by a young man in a neat blue suit who stood at the rear of the room, waved his arms in a "V" sign and shouted, "My name is Ed Kelley and I'm announcing for the presidency of the United States."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., chairman of the select investigating committee, gavelled for order as Capitol policemen hustled the spectator outside.

"The chair will announce this is not a political forum for the announcing of candidacies," Ervin said with a grin.

Police also removed a woman, identified later as Judith Vadnai, 43, of West Orange, N.J., who also stood and shouted something about the presidency about the same time. She and Kelley, 23, of Yuba City, Calif., were released after questioning.

A policeman escorted both to the sidewalk outside the Senate Office Building and said: "You will not attend the Watergate hearings ever again."

In the afternoon session, police escorted two men and a woman from the hearing and barred them from future attendance. The woman was described as a "known" figure who frequently visits the offices of senators and congressmen.

One of the men was removed after exchanging words with police about seating arrangements. The other was escorted out after he began to mumble and walked from his seat toward the committee.

Kelley told reporters he was a student at an unidentified university and a political independent who believed that "anyone who takes a good, hard look at the Watergate affair" would recognize the need for changes in government policy. "Right here at home first before anywhere else."

Mrs. Vadnai said she wanted to tell the Ervin committee that "no matter what new charges are brought out, the President's name is tainted."

Brezhnev U.S. plans not final Thieu presented with peace plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Communist Party Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev may go to New York, Detroit, Houston and San Clemente, Calif., during his U.S. visit next month, although no final decision has been made, State Department officials said Thursday.

A 35-member Soviet advance party, headed by General Secretary Yuri N. Chernenko, has visited those cities and a detailed itinerary presumably will be decided upon before Brezhnev arrives June 18 for an eight-day stay in the United States.

The Communist leader, whom President Nixon invited to the United States during his mission to the Soviet Union last year, will spend the bulk of his time with Nixon in Washington and at the Camp David presidential retreat in northern Maryland.

For security reasons, American officials have been politely discouraging a Brezhnev visit to New York, where Ukrainians, Russians, Jews and other ethnic groups could mount embarrassing demonstrations.

But Soviet officials apparently are interested in having the Communist leader see a cross-section of American capitalism, from the technical aspect of Detroit's auto production to the tawdry of New York's ghettos.

The United Nations headquarters on New York's East Side also is on the tentative agenda.

The Soviet Union has yet to match America's massive output of cars, and has solicited foreign help to do so. Vasily V. Kuznetsov, the Soviet first deputy foreign minister, worked at a Ford plant in the Detroit area in the 1930's.

The Houston stop would give Brezhnev a look at the U.S. manned spaceflight center, a point of interest in light of the Soviet-American joint space mission scheduled in July, 1975.

Sullivan, who arrived Wednesday from Paris, met with Thieu for one hour Thursday and later conferred with Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam, Thieu's military assistant Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang and Lt. Gen. Pham Quoc Thuan, chief South Vietnamese delegate to the two-party Joint Military Commission (JMC).

The informed sources said Sullivan and Thieu discussed the proposal for making the fragile four-month-old truce work, but there was no report on Thieu's reaction.

In the fighting, Saigon reported a new low record in alleged Communist violations—55 in the 24-hour period that ended at noon. It was the second consecutive day in which a new low was recorded.

Two of the incidents, however, involved fighting only eight miles from Saigon. In one, four government militiamen were killed and four others wounded near Nhon Trach district town about eight miles east of Saigon. In another, one government militiaman and 12 Communist troops were killed eight miles southwest of Saigon.

61 city youngsters enjoy Poconos

By RUTH VINCE
Pocono Record Reporter

TOBYHANNA — Lino and Helen Morelli of Sterling Road, Tobyhanna recently hosted 61 boys between the ages of 8 and 13 and 23 adult counselors from Somerset, N. J. for a day in the Poconos.

The outing, sponsored by the St. Matias Holy Name Society of Somerset, enabled the boys to visit the Poconos for the first time.

During the day it was difficult to tell who was having more fun — the boys or their counselors — as they visited the Fish Hatchery in Paradise Valley, Pocono Horse Center in Tobyhanna or fished in Morelli's pond.

After returning from the fish hatchery one grinning boy, stretching his small arms as far as they would go said, "I saw a fish this long." Another youngster shouted, "I saw a gold trout."

Morelli had stocked a pond on his property with 200 fish for the occasion and as half of the boys remained behind to try their luck the others, with counselors and host Morelli, hiked to Pocono Horse Center where Palt Vince, manager, allowed them to have a grand tour. The boys saw giant Cyldsdales, sleek quarter horses and recently born fillies.

Robert Rogers was sure he saw "bustin' bronco horses." Larry Lyons "just wanted to look, not ride." Alex Fisher, with wide-eyed wonder said, "I've seen horses before but not so many at one time."

Back at the 'ole fishin' hole' young boys with fishing poles dotted the entire circumference of the pond.

Shouts of joy echoed through the sunny air as fish were caught, some large and some small. You couldn't tell the size of the fish by the shouts because any catch was a thrill.

George Foat was walking around proudly displaying his catch which he had in a plastic bag of water. "It's too small to fry," he said. "I'm going to keep him for a pet."

Brian Moore, said he was going to take his catch home and clean and cook it by himself. "I can too," he said proudly. "I saw a guy clean a fish once and it's easy."

His brother Kevin was running around showing everyone his water filled bag which contained several salamanders. "I'm going to put them all in my fish bowl," he shouted.

John Willichowski, 9, boasted he had caught a six-inch trout. "Man, I'm glad I caught that fish," he grinned. "I'm gonna take him home and eat him."

Throughout the day the boys enjoyed a picnic with food supplied by the men of the Holy Name Society.

There were 61 boys and 23 counselors who were very tired on their trip back to Somerset. But memories of a day in the Poconos and the hospitality of the Morelli's and a congenial riding stable manager, having pictures taken and just having folks open their hearts was enough to fill everyone's head and heart with memories of a day never to be forgotten and many stories to tell the folks back home.

Doctor to open 'Paupack office

TARTON — Wallenpaupack Area Medical Foundation, Inc. has announced Dr. William R. Dewar, M.D., will start full-time practice, Monday, June 18 in its temporary medical facility on Rt. 507, approximately three miles South of the Rt. 6 and 507 intersection. Office hours will be by appointment only.

Organization planning benefits for the Medical Foundation in conjunction with the fund raising drive are, The Tanglewood Summer Dinner-Theater's first performance, Friday night, June 29 with "Lovers and Other Strangers." Tickets will be priced slightly higher than usual to assure a generous donation to the Foundation.

Lake Wallenpaupack Yacht Club will hold a "Rummage and White Elephant Sale" Saturday, June 30 at the Grade School on Rt. 507, Paupack. Mary Mason chairman of the affair announced "literally anything from anyone" will be accepted for the sale. Articles may be left with Bernie Singer at "The Country Store" on Rt. 507.

Hawley-Lake Wallenpaupack Lions Club is having a three day weekend, June 15, 16 and 17 at White Beauty View Resort with a golf tournament, tennis volley ball, water sports and shuffleboard.

A Spaghetti Dinner held recently at the Country Hearth Restaurant, South Sterling netted over $500 for the Foundation.

Robert H. Scott, Sr., executive coordinator for the Foundation announced any organization interested in holding a benefit contact the Foundation office.

Newspaper drive to stop

KRESGEVILLE — The continuing newspaper drive, coordinated by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Polk Township Fire Company, will be discontinued for the summer months as of June 1.

Normal paper donations, which are made on the second Saturday of the month, will resume again in October.

According to Mrs. Clinton Burch, papers cannot be collected during the next four months, because the storage pavilion at the firehouse will be used for summer activities.

Scouts use 'green thumbs'

CRESCO — "Green thumbs" of the Cubs of Pack 89 of Barrett were the ingredients needed to produce their May Pack meeting held recently at the Barrett Elementary Center in Cresco.

The program planned by the Barrett Community Club is part of its annual May Conservation Program. Club members worked with Cubs to achieve the theme, "Things That Grow," giving the Cubs a glimpse of the miracle of growth in nature.

Each Cub planted either a sweet potato, carrot or bean in early April and with tender loving care groomed it for the show in May.

Judges for the event were Mrs. Carl Texter and Mrs. Roebing Gravel of the Barrett Community Club who also presented prizes for the best specimen from each Den.

Winners were Tim Sengle, Den one; Tom Reap, Den two; Kevin Ayers, Den three; Rusty Kice, Den four; Eric Horne, Den six; Chip Higgins, Webelos, Den one; and Michael Ayers, Webelos, Den two. Recipient of the grand prize was Billy Seese, Den three.

The "Cubby" award for most parents attending went to Den four, Pam Dunlap, den leader.

Graduating into Webelos Den two were, Eddie Bevan, David Robey and Ricky Dunlap.

Charles Ayers, assistant cubmaster and Webelos leader, Den two presented the following activity badges: Wayne Horne and Brian Shaller, Showman and Athlete; Dennis Bender, Michael Ayers, and Robert Price, Showman.

Give mall idea a trial run

For several years now, there has been in the files of the Borough of Stroudsburg a plan to create a shoppers' mall in the heart of the Main Street business district.

It is an ambitious project and, needless to say, a controversial one. After all, you don't break up the traffic pattern of generations without some inconvenience for residents and resistance from those to whom the paths of travel have become ingrained habit.

There is a way to sort of test market the concept this summer, though. Stroudsburg merchants have asked the Stroudsburg Council to consider turning that section of Main Street from Fifth to Seventh Streets into a shoppers' mall for the three-day period of the annual Sidewalk Sales Days, Aug. 2-4.

That is almost, but not quite, the same area proposed for a shoppers' mall in the borough's traffic plan. That mall would extend along Main from Sixth to Eighth Streets. Closing off that portion for the three sales days would be hard, though, since it would take the acquiescence of the state to shut off Rte. 611 traffic along Seventh Street.

Just the same, it might be a good idea to approve the merchants' request. According to William Wells, president of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn., the group, if given the green light, would post auxiliary policemen at key intersections to see that traffic follows the right patterns (along Ann Street west-bound and Sarah, Scott and Thomas Streets east-bound).

Fire lanes also would be kept open (for a fire engine would be stationed in the middle of the "mall" for emergencies). And, of course, sufficient advance notice would be posted to cause as little dismayed surprise as possible.

With this sort of advance planning, chances are good complete chaos would be avoided. Maybe even partial chaos. And it would be an excellent dress rehearsal for the proposed permanent mall planners feel would be beneficial to the borough, its merchants and its shoppers.

Finished I-80 means...

Remember Interstate 80?

If that seems to be an odd way to phrase it (it exists, after all, from the Delaware River to over the Pennsylvania-Ohio border) try to think of it as it was intended — a limited access, high-speed freeway clear across the country.

In that context, it doesn't exist except on paper. The break in that roadway ribbon is in neighboring New Jersey, as any hapless soul who has to brave the wilds of Rte. 46 can tell you.

Well, we have some good news . . . if the New Jersey Highway Department is telling the truth, that is.

The word from those stalwarts is that all of Interstate 80 is under final construction. Final! We can hardly believe it!

To top it all off, we have been assured that the entire project will be completed by or before the end of this calendar year, and the happy motorist will be able to travel from the George Washington Bridge to wherever his little heart desires — and that includes Monroe County.

We're not from Missouri, but we'd like to be shown, anyway. If it is the truth, though, brace yourselves for a virtual inundation of travelers and, believe it or not, commuters from the big city.

Commuters? Why not? With I-80 complete, it'll be only an hour and a half (maybe a little more) from Stroudsburg to New York City. Don't you think those vacation home buyers will move up here permanently, and run into the city every day? People travel as long every day into and out of Connecticut.

Isn't it time we began to think seriously about what that will mean to our style of life and start making some concrete plans for adapting? And maybe protecting ourselves a little?

Fortunately, we have the means to do just that. Virtually every municipality in the county has a planning board, and that's the perfect vehicle to start deciding right now how we're going to handle that influx of people. Unless, of course, we want our area to turn into another Levittown (take your choice; they're all bad).

Watergate inundates press

Watergate unfolds like a diminishing roll of toilet paper. My interest is as a reader, not a writer. I have not covered the story, and it is almost a cliché to state that no person is ever guilty until a judge or jury says so. Even then, the imputation is open to appeal.

Personally, I am a political cynic. I have enjoyed the confidence of four Presidents of the United States and, more important, the friendship of some retired White House Secret Service Agents. I revere the latter more than the former.

Press change

My prime interest in Watergate is not so much in reading about burglary and thievery, but in watching the changing attitude of my confreres of the press. Without collusion, they seem to be in the process of making a right turn away from the Oval Office of the President.

A psychiatrist-author says "You can't involve the President in this. The office itself is holy." This feeling is shared by many publishers and editors. To besmirch Richard Nixon would damage the country. This, I submit, is hysteria because there is no hard evidence to link him to Watergate except by self-confessed losers like John Dean and L. Patrick Gray.

I do not defend the President. I didn't admire him even when we were on a "Dick" and "Jim" basis 13 years ago. He was a below-the-belt fighter then and I see no reason why he should alter his principles or his personality. He will fight hard, you may be sure, and will emerge with a shiny halo on his head and mud on his shoes.

My interest is in watching the press. Within 90 days, they have altered the adversary role from cringing defendant to belligerent plaintiff. The reporters touched upon Watergate lightly and politely from June 1972, when the "Watergate Seven" were arrested, until Judge Sirica busted the story wide open and forced them to go out and earn their daily bread.

Today, it is the President who cringes in loneliness. He even ducked into the White House press room and asked the "boys" to continue to call their shots and "tell me when I'm wrong."

However, once the investigation reached up high to topple Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell, Kleindienst and Gray, some of the opinion-molders began to murmur: "That's far enough."

Some good friends began to revise their thinking. Jack Anderson, who published grand jury notes, backed off. Scotty Reston and Tom Wicker wrote as though they felt embarrassed to find their feet on the President's Oval Office rug.

William Buckley, Jr., who is prone to get cyanotic, wrote: "I have said it until I am blue in the face that in my opinion Nixon ought not to be impeached even if he is established to have had knowledge of Watergate before March . . ." Unfortunately, Buckley prefaced this charity with the observation: "The fact of the matter is that President Nixon has, in effect, taken the Fifth Amendment."

James Kilpatrick, who runs a scorecard telling the President, the Supreme Court and the Congress when they are right and when they are wrong, said, in substance, that loyalty to Nixon has its limits. I am naive: I never knew until now that newspaper writers had a right to be loyal to politicians.

Richard Whalen, who writes for "The Washington Star," refers to the Watergate crimes as "The Elite of the Stupid." I have covered criminal trials for 40 years and I can't remember one guilty huffon getting off by pleading that he was stupid.

Hide and sue

Sydney Harris writes: "If Washington correspondents could tell what they really knew about the personal characters and habits of many of the men they report on, half the political figures would be in hiding, and the other half would be suing."

John S. Knight, editor of the Knight newspapers, writes: "Most members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors with whom I talked are appalled by the incredible bungling of President Nixon's now departed palace guard." The editors leave the impression that the shocking aspect of the alleged crimes is that the perpetrators were accident-prone.

A crime is a crime is a crime, no matter who commits it. To clear the President's good name by a conspiracy of silence is as much of a disservice to him in the cold light of history as to try to drag his name in by the heels when, in truth, he may have been felled by his aides . . .

My aunt was taken to the hospital with "left heart failure." Does that mean that there is a left heart and a right heart?

Miss J.M., Tenn.

Dear Miss M.:

The terms "left heart" and "right heart" are technical ones that have meaning to physicians.

Actually, they refer to the two sides of the heart. The heart has four chambers, two auricles and two ventricles. There is one auricle and one ventricle on each side of the heart.

The chambers of the so-called "right heart" receive blood that has circulated and given up its oxygen. The right heart then pumps this blood into the lungs, to re-accumulate oxygen so essential to life.

Then, the oxygenated blood enters the chambers of the left heart. The powerful muscle of the left ventricle pumps oxygen-filled blood into the arteries for distribution to all parts of the body.

Is the prostate operation safe after the age of 70?

Mr. J. O., Vi.

Dear Mr. O.:

It is very safe. Enlargement of the prostate most frequently occurs in older men.

The success and the safety of these operations are remarkable.

Age itself does not determine the safety of this or any other operation. Before surgery, the patient's heart, lungs, blood pressure and general physical condition are carefully checked.

The safety of modern anesthesia and improved surgical techniques have greatly minimized risks in the surgery of the elderly.

You can be sure that if surgery has been recommended, all factors for your greatest safety have been considered.

I was born with Erb's palsy. Is this hereditary? Can anything be done about it at my age? I am 17.

Mr. M.O., S.C.

Dear Mr. O.:

Erb's palsy is a paralysis of some of the muscles of the upper arm and shoulder. The result is that the arm is limp, and it is difficult to make ordinary rotating movements.

It is not hereditary. It is caused by some injury to a few of the spinal nerves.

Many mechanical devices have been beneficial in giving better use of arms affected by Erb's palsy.

Many hospitals have excellent rehabilitation centers that may offer you some benefit.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled, "Pay Attention to Your Heart." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester Coleman, M.D., (Heart booklet) in care of this newspaper. Please mention the booklet by title.

Nixon: 'Take it easy'

WASHINGTON — Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen, who has been in charge of the Watergate prosecution for the past 10 months, has been quoted as saying President Nixon personally instructed him to "go easy" on the investigation.

This statement was attributed to Petersen by his brother-in-law, Melvin Clark, in front of my reporter Barbara Browne. Two other witnesses have also sworn they heard Clark repeat the statement on at least two separate occasions.

Petersen vigorously denied that the President had asked him to restrain the Watergate investigation in any way. He told us that his relationship with the President was "straight up and down" and the President "has never asked me to do anything improper."

Petersen acknowledged, however, that he had discussed Watergate confidentially with his brother-in-law and confirmed that his brother-in-law had "correctly reported other details of their conversations."

Easy on Nixon

Before we delivered our copies of the secret Watergate transcripts to Judge John Sirica, we searched them for signs that the prosecutors might be pulling their punches. We found they had spared no one, with one exception. It seemed to us they were easy on the President.

They missed several opportunities to ask witnesses about the President's involvement in the Watergate scandal. We could find only one instance that the prosecutors brought up his name in their cross-examination. Of course, we were unable to examine all the transcripts.

Petersen admitted to us that he advised his prosecutors not to probe into the personal conversations between the President and his lawyer. He also reminded them that the President was not on trial. His own view, he said, is that the Justice Department cannot prosecute the President but that any evidence of wrongdoing should be submitted to the House of Representatives.

He didn't feel his admonition inhibited the prosecutors. This was echoed by one of the prosecutors who told us that Petersen in no way had tried to lead them. For years, we have known Petersen as an honest and honorable

Roscoe Drummond

Double standard

WASHINGTON — It is evident that many of his longtime political opponents are now focusing a concentrated hostility against President Nixon beyond anything relating to Watergate.

One columnist is eagerly dancing a venomous jig on what he hopes will be his political grave.

Their tactics are two-pronged: First, to use Watergate as a weapon not just to attack what the President has done wrong but to use it as a means of trying to degrade everything he has done right, to undermine all the purposes and policies he has pursued since he has been in office.

Second, to employ the drumbeat of rumor and innuendo to destroy the President without waiting for the evidence to prove or disprove unsupported accusations.

They have already gone so far and become so reckless that one of Nixon's sternest Democratic critics, Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, took the floor of the Senate to exclaim: "Stop this attempt at the McCarthyist destruction of the President."

He characterized this rampant rumor-mongering as "grossly unfair" and as the equivalent of seeking to make sure that "President Nixon is tried, sentenced and executed by rumor and allegation."

He asked those who are indulging in it: Doesn't the President have the same right as every other American to be judged innocent until proved guilty?

One banner headline alleges that former White House counsel John W. Dean III can show that Nixon had prior knowledge of the Watergate bugging and subsequent coverup. The New York Times — no Nixon supporter — alleges that there is no basis for the allegation.

There is yet no certainty which allegation is correct. But it is an evil thing to practice the black art of insinuating — and trying to make the insinuation suit and sully — that any person, including the President of the United law enforcer who would not yield to political pressure. His three Watergate prosecutors also impressed us as men of integrity and ability.

Nevertheless, we learned last December that the White House hoped to confine the Watergate case to the seven original defendants. We wrote on December 26th that the "Justice Department was discretely sounding out some of the defendants . . . about entering guilty pleas and settling the affair without trial."

We suggested "the White House would like to avoid the embarrassment of a public trial, which would spread on the court record details that have been limited so far to newspaper accounts. . . . By pleading guilty, the defendants could avoid a public spectacle and save the White House embarrassment. The White House, therefore, has a keen interest in preventing the case from ever coming to trial."

Petersen acknowledged that the prosecutors, indeed, dickered with the defense attorneys over offering guilty pleas. This is routine procedure, he said, before a prosecution. He would have been disappointed, he said, if the seven defendants had pleaded guilty to avoid a trial.

He also confirmed our report that White House counsel John Dean had been in close contact with the prosecution during the early investigation. Petersen insisted, however, that Dean had brought no pressure upon the prosecution to settle the case out of court.

From Justice Department sources, we have also learned that President Nixon gave explicit orders not to investigate the government burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and the use of wiretapping to uncover news leaks. As justification he cited the national security. Both Petersen and outgoing Attorney General Richard Kleindienst, nevertheless, were prepared to resign over this issue. But the President later reversed himself without any ultimatums.

When we asked Petersen about this incident, he would say only that the President made the right decision to go ahead with the investigation of the government's role in the Ellsberg case.

States, is guilty until proved innocent.

Nothing which has ever appeared in this space has given a breath of justification for Watergate or any of the other grievous political offenses. But it deserves to be pointed out that many of the President's liberal opponents embrace their own special kind of double standard; that is, what's wrong for others is somehow quite right when they do the same thing for what they deem a worthy purpose.

To them Daniel Ellsberg's actions of taking and publishing classified government papers were tolerable, even brave and heroic, on the ground that he was nobly serving the public interest. But to them, those who acted similarly at Watergate on the ground of serving the public interest — their actions were instantly denounced as intolerable and craven.

I believe most Americans condone neither, heartily condemn both and totally reject the idea that worthy motives justify unworthy acts.

No one has expounded this matter more lucidly than Clare Booth Luce in her address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Her words deserve pondering:

"The only explanation (of Watergate) which makes sense to me lies in the widespread climate of mutual suspicion and mistrust that began to pervade American politics over the conduct of the Vietnamese war."

"By 1972 each side had come to believe that the other side was being led by dangerous fanatics."

"On the evidence the demons of suspicion that drive Ellsberg . . . were the same demons that entered into the Watergate burglaries."

Isn't this a key question: Can a responsible press hold that, in Ellsberg's rejection of his oath of secrecy and his public use of private government papers, his political ends justified the means, while in the Watergate affair the same ends were unjustified?

Batman and Robin

The Super Cops; The True Story of the Cops Called Batman and Robin, by L.H. Whittemore. (Stein & Day, $7.95)

This action-packed book tells the true story of how two rookie cops in the New York City police department set that ancient, tradition-bound, red tape-snarled establishment on its collective ear.

Rookie cops Dave Greenberg and Bob Hantz set out to clean up "sin city" single-handed, and made a real dent in doing it.

They wound up being called Batman and Robin by the very people they were out to get — dope pushers, who both feared and respected them in their exploits of derring-do which led to their getting gold detective shields while still in their 20s.

Any team of cops who can, in a couple of years, rack up a record of 400 arrests 300 of them for felonies — with a 90 per cent rate of conviction — has got to stand out in any department, especially when they break all the rules and rile their bosses and fellow cops in the process.

Whittemore has written a fast paced, exciting book which you won't be able to put down. Trouble is, when you finish you still won't know the real life Batman and Robin.

Their story is well told here, but they themselves emerge as cardboard figures.

It's a shame in an otherwise fascinating book, but the reader doesn't feel fear when they do, doesn't hurt when they're hit, is barely even outraged when their bosses try to draw them up short.

EDWARD V. MCCARTHY

Intermediate Unit 20 may increase staff by 30

NORTHAMPTON — The Colonial Northampton Intermediate Unit 20 may increase its staff by 30 members in 1973-74 if a preliminary need study approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Education is followed.

At the unit's board of directors meeting, Assistant Executive Director Dr. John Ab-bruzzese reported that he had made the report to the education department in compliance with state guidelines for expansion of intermediate unit services and staff.

The proposed total staff would include 101 class teachers, 41 itinerant teachers, three resource supervisors and 59 aides — a total of 145 staff personnel for 97 classes that would be operated by the unit.

Currently 115 personnel are involved in 83 classes operated by the unit.

Stroudsburg Area School District representative Lloyd Manter questioned Abbruzzese on the need for such a large staff increase, stating that need statistics from each participating district used by Abbruzzese in his report were not verified by the district boards in some instances.

Manter said the statistics were collected by Abbruzzese several months ago and submitted to Harrisburg without unit board approval. He also said such a large staff might not be needed.

Abbruzzese said the report was sent directly to Harrisburg to comply with state regulations and follow the proper procedures for its eventual adoption by the board.

Board member Phillip Lauer of Wilson said it might be a good idea to plan for the increase, even if all the funds needed for such an increase were not used.

"If we put it in the budget, they (the unit administrators) will spend it," said Manter. "I'm not that naive."

Abbruzzese said his study of the problem led him to conclude that a need for the increased staff was evident. "Actually to serve all the children that should be involved in some areas, especially gifted education, we should do even more."

Manter also objected to a proposal by the administration to round off increases in teacher salary scales. Executive Director G. Raymond Todd said this was done for ease in computation even though it would cost the unit an extra $6,000 a year.

Manter and Pocono Mountain representative James Price said they felt this was not necessary with computer processed payrolls such as used by the unit, and the board unanimously voted down the administration proposal.

Kathleen Sherno

Youth of month selected

MOUNTAINHOME — Kathleen Sherno received the certificate of recognition as the Barrett Youth of the Month for May from the Rotary Club of the Pocono Mountains.

Miss Sherno was nominated for this honor by the Pocono Central Catholic High School because of a combination of her scholastic standing, her participation in extracurricular activities, her qualities of leadership, and her acceptance by her peers.

While maintaining above average grades, Miss Sherno has been a member of the Forensic Club, Pep Club, and Ski Club. She has been a manager of the basketball team, and has served on the Prom Committee.

Miss Sherno has been accepted as a student next fall at the Moore School of Fine Arts, in Philadelphia.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sherno, of Cresco, attended the dinner.

Students help MH center

EAST STROUDSBURG — Eleven undergraduate students at East Stroudsburg State College are presently serving as volunteer tutors at the Mental Health Center of Carbon, Monroe and Pike Counties. The students are working with adolescent patients who require tutorial aid in their classroom studies.

Nine of the students are working primarily with elementary age children as well as several children at the seventh, eighth and ninth grade levels.

Marie E. Byrne, a senior speech correction major from Philadelphia; Anita M. Cipolini, a junior secondary education major from King of Prussia; Joan L. Gulla, a junior physical education major from Emmaus; Karen A. Shamro, a junior elementary education major from Forest City, and Corinne Sline, a sophomore elementary major from Philadelphia.

In addition, two students, Jean M. Runsky, a junior sociology major from Avoca, and Linda J. Grabrowski, a sophomore psychology major from Avoca, are doing volunteer work in the Occupational Therapy Department.

Soil Stewardship Week observance set locally

STROUDSBURG — Soil Stewardship Week will be observed locally starting with special church services Sunday, May 27 and ending June 3. Leading the observance will be members of the Monroe County Conservation District.

The theme this year is "Changing Challenges" according to chairman, Elmer Kreger of the Monroe County Conservation District.

The history of Soil Stewardship Week centers on the year "470" in the area of Vienne, France. Crops had failed and hunger was widespread. The people, depending on the fruits of their soil each year, had scanty reserves and little money. The Bishop of Vienne called for prayer and penance on the three days preceding Ascension Day.

Other communities soon took up the observance and from France the custom of Rogation Days — days of giving thanks to God for His bounty and asking for His continued blessings — has spread throughout the world!

Twenty years ago, a renewed and more widespread interest in this observance was fostered in the United States by the publishers of "Farm and Ranch" magazine.

They suggested to a few religious leaders that one Sunday in each year be recognized nationally as a time to remind all church congregations of man's obligations to his Creator in being a good steward of the soil. This idea has been so warmly received by ministers that today the observance has grown to nationwide proportions.

The Monroe County Conservation District is a member of the National Association of Conservation Districts.

Pocono Singers set last concert

BRODHEADSVILLE — The Pocono Boy Singers will present the final concert of this season at 8 p.m., Saturday in the auditorium of the Pleasant Valley High School, Brodheadsville.

The program features all of the choirs which make up the Pocono Boy Singers, including the first-advanced choir, men's chorus, second-advanced, and the two preparatory choirs. There will be about 250 boys in the performance. The featured work of the first-advanced choir is the Tereas Mass in B Flat Major, the tenth mass, by Haydn. This work requires the assistance of the men's chorus, soloists, and a chamber orchestra and organ.

Written during the final period of Haydn's life, the mass was the first instance in which clarinets were scored in the orchestra. The soprano and alto solos will be performed by boys from the choir.

David Voelker, sophomore from Shavertown attending East Stroudsburg State College, will be the baritone soloist.

In addition to this work, there will be selections by the other three choirs of the Pocono Boy Singers.

Information about the performance and tickets can be obtained by writing to the Pocono Boy Singers, East Stroudsburg State College, or calling 717-421-6137.

The Pocono Boy Singers is a choir school which is associated with East Stroudsburg State College. Under the direction of associate professor K. Bernard Schade, the Pocono Boy Singers has performed the Mahler Eighth Symphony with the Rochester Philharmonic with critical acclaim.

They have assisted with the college's production of the musical, "Oliver", and appeared in a WBRE-TV Holy Week Special which was seen Well, anyway, the news is bright even if the weather prospects aren't. There was, for instance, the note of appreciation from Dr. Robert Brown for the shower of cards on his 90th birthday.

"It brought to my memory the happy days when I was working with the boys and girls of Stroudsburg. I really enjoyed my work," he wrote.

"I received 190 birthday cards. I did appreciate hearing from so many of my former pupils. To all of them, my thanks. The congratulations and good wishes from so many have come to me like red wine to a thirsty soul."

In the bag

By BARBARA GIBBONS

Neat trick! Low-calorie fried chicken in the bag! No, silly...you don't fry the chicken in the bag. You use the bag to coat the chicken with egg and crumbs.

Actually you use two bags — plastic bags — one for the egg coating, and the other for the crumb mixture. And you don't fry the chicken at all! You bake it in the oven, with no fat added. But nobody will know the difference, because this Slim Gourmet "fried chicken" tastes like the kitchen-messier kind. (Of course, your scale will know the difference, because this "fried chicken is only half the calories of the usual kind, and a whole lot less than the stuff-in-a-bucket.)

I told you it was a neat trick! Here's what makes it really neat: There's no crumbly counter to mess with, no splattering fat to smoke up your kitchen. You won't even get your hands dirty. When you're finished, you simply toss out two plastic bags.

One word of caution, was that of Sara Dreher who spread the word of the date among former classmates whom she knew would be interested. It's the kind of idea I'm always wishing I'd thought of, but somehow never do.

Those of you have been following Barbara Gibbons "Slim Gourmet" recipes in The Pocono Record might be interested in knowing that 300 of her low-calorie recipes have been collected in a Family Circle special "Creative Low-Calorie Cooking".

Which is sort of an unselfish idea to pass on to you since my problem seems to be in retaining enough weight to keep the bones from rattling: which immediately subjects me to all the put-downs, conversational exclusion, and snide remarks of an underprivileged minority.

PV Manor audience likes pro entertainer

SNYDERSVILLE — As a professional entertainer, one of Del Ray's stocks in trade is establishing a sense of rapport with her audiences, and it worked as happily for the residents of Pleasant Valley Manor as for her usual audiences at the Holiday Inn.

Miss Ray, contributing her services, spent about two and a half hours on Wednesday entertaining the residents and visiting with them individually.

Learning that they had their own rhythm band, she enlisted their help in her songs with other guests adding hand-clapping and foot-stamping with some of them even dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Padula (Lawrence Studio)

Bonnie Smith married in Baptist Church

STROUDSBURG — Miss Bonnie Louise Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Smith of 1053 Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg, became the bride of Paul Alan Padula on Saturday, May 5 at 3 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, East Stroudsburg.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Padula of R.D. 2, Stroudsburg.

Rev. Norman R. Savage performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with two bouquets of gladiolus, carnations and daisies. The pews were marked by white ribbons and lilies of the valley.

Organ music before the ceremony was played by Mrs. Marian Patterson with "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of silk organza with empire waist and bishop sleeves trimmed in re-embroidered lace. Her waist-length veil fell from a daisy bow headpiece and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white roses, carnations and daisies.

Mrs. Virginia Werkheiser of 106 Ridgeway St. was matron of honor. She wore a lavender gown trimmed with white flowers, and a white picture hat with long streamers. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and lavender roses.

The Misses Linda and Denise Smith served as their sister's bridesmaids. They wore long dresses of flocked organza over taffeta with short puffed sleeves and stand-up collar. Linda was in apricot and Denise in light blue with white picture hats with streamers to match their gowns.

Valerie Smith, youngest sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore a similar gown of white over pink taffeta with pink ribbon streamers in her hair.

They all carried bouquets of white carnations and roses of the color of their gowns.

Brad Rundle of R.D. 5, Stroudsburg was best man. Ushers were Michael (Pete) Eilber of Canadensis; Harvey (Bucky) Smith, cousin of the bride was junior usher.

The men wore white double knit jackets with lavender ruffled shirts and black pants.

The bride's mother wore a pink double knit gown with long chiffon sleeves trimmed in white lace and a corsage of miniature carnations and pink sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's Mother wore a turquoise gown trimmed with matching lace. Her corsage was of carnations and yellow roses.

A reception for 180 guests was held at the Eagles Social Club, Stroudsburg, decorated with white streamers and wedding bells. The four-tier wedding cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom, and two bell cakes were trimmed in the wedding colors, baked by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Evelyn Butts. Music was provided by "The End of March."

The gowns of the bridesmaids and junior bridesmaids were made by Mrs. Marian Cramer.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Stroudsburg High School. The bridegroom is employed by Excell Plumbing, Tobyhanna.

Arts and crafts show over holiday weekend

DELAWARE WATER GAP — On Sunday and Monday of the Memorial Day weekend May 27 and 28, the Antoine Dutot School & Museum will sponsor the first Outdoor Arts Crafts Show of the season in the borough of Delaware Water Gap.

More than 70 artists and craftsmen representing the Eastern states will set up their booths in-and-around the Triangle. Oils, water colors, pastels, charcoal and pencil sketches will be on display, along with works of sculpture. Craftsmen will show examples of woodworking, leathercraft, photography, jewelry, ceramics, and some new forms that combine the techniques employed in both arts and crafts.

On both days, the Dutot School & Museum will be open to the public. Besides the refurbished and expanded exhibition of "200 Years of Water Gap History," the Museum has mounted a showing of the works of the pioneer photographer and historian, Dr. Wallace Nutting.

Duane Walck, curator of the Dutot Museum and himself an innovative photographer, has amassed a collection of hundreds of Dr. Nutting's photographs, and the exhibit will be drawn from this collection. Dr. Nutting's favorite photographic subjects were landscapes of rural America and exteriors and interiors of early American homes. He became noted as an authority on antique furniture and clocks.

In addition to his photographic work, Dr. Nutting wrote more than thirty books, including a series featuring individual states he had visited and photographed, the States Beautiful series, plus reference works on photography, antique clocks and furniture. Many of these volumes will also be on display at the Museum. The show presents an opportunity to view a rare and unusual cross section of Americana.

Courthouse 'girls' hold reunion lunch

PORTLAND — "The Girls of Yesteryear", a group of women who were employed by the Northampton County Commissioners at the Courthouse during the 30's and 40's, held their spring reunion on Saturday at the Cross Timbers Inn on the William Penn Highway.

After the luncheon they were entertained at the home of Mrs. Pauline MacDonald, Palmer Twp., Easton. They planned their fall meeting for Saturday, Oct. 13, when they will tour the Poconos after a luncheon.

Attending were Miss Florence Schafer of Bath, Mrs. Arlene Spickler of Akron, Mrs. Hazel Walton of Bangor, Mrs. Dorothy Spriggs of Martins Creek, Mrs. Gwladys Carpenter of Portland, and Mrs. Kitty Pensley, Mrs. Eleanor Bowers, Mrs. Doris Alpaugh and Mrs. Pauline MacDonald of Easton.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Altomose (Jim Yaich)

Friends fill firehouse for golden wedding

EFFORT — About 250 friends and relatives gathered at the Long Pond firehouse on Sunday, May 29, to help Mr. and Mrs. William H. Altomose of Effort celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

They were married May 20, 1923 at the Reformed parsonage in Gilbert by Rev. F.W. Smith.

Mrs. Altomose is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank La Monda and was born in Sheldon, Vt. Her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Milton Altomose and was born in Albrightsville.

Mr. Altomose attended Fairview Academy in Brodheadsville and taught school for six years. He was in the Christmas tree business for 48 years and also in the huckleberry business for many years before engaging in farming. He is a member of the Lions Club and of the Masons.

Mrs. Altomose is famous for her love of flowers which she has enjoyed raising for many years. She is a member of the Patriotic Order of Americans of Kresgeville, the Mineola Grange of Bartonsville and of the United Methodist Church of Effort.

The Altomoses are the parents of four children: William H. Altomose Jr. of R.D. 2, Stroudsburg; Donald L. Altomose of Brodheadsville; Francis A. Altomose and Helen (Mrs. Clair Witt) both of Long Pond. They have five grandsons, one granddaughter, and one great grandson.

Slim gourmet "fried" chicken

Frying chicken, completely cut up

- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 tablespoon onion salt
- 1/2 teaspoon MSG optional
- 1 egg
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper

Place the egg and water in one plastic bag. Put bread crumbs and seasonings in the other. Shake both bags to combine ingredients. Press bag to break egg yolk. Shake to combine.

Put the chicken pieces in the egg bag. Hold the top of the bag with one hand and spread and maneuver the chicken pieces around. Press the chicken pieces in with the other hand, so that all surfaces are coated.

Shake up the bread crumb bag to mix seasonings. Add all chicken. Put all the egg-coated chicken pieces in the bag at the same time. Hold the top firmly and shake the bag, until all surfaces are crumb-coated. Discard remaining crumbs about 1/4 cupful.

Place the chicken pieces skin side down on a nonstick cookie sheet or baking tray. Place in a preheated 350-degree oven and bake for 15 minutes. Turn chicken pieces skin side up halfway through baking period.

Blind businessman finds himself in deep dilemma

By JOHN L. MOORE
Harrisburg Bureau
Offaway News Service

HARRISBURG — A Philadelphia blind man who moved here to start a business has been "shafted," his wife says.

Stanley Kozel, 46, is a stranger here. His savings are gone and the business he started Monday is going bust.

To top it off, a representative of the state Office of the Blind has suggested he go on welfare, Kozel says.

This is Kozel's story: Ten days ago he, his sighted wife Patricia and seeing eye dog Toddy moved here from Philadelphia.

In Philadelphia, he and Pat had been proprietors of a snack bar in a factory. The snack bar was operated under the auspices of the Office of the Blind, and they made $600 to $700 a month.

Not a lot, but enough to live on, he says.

They came to Harrisburg because of a new opportunity, also under the Office of the Blind auspices. The Department of Environmental Resources was moving people into a renovated building here and someone was needed to operate the building's new snack bar.

Kozel put in for the post — a promotion — and got it. There were, he says, assurances ("promises") from Office of the Blind apparently relayed from the environmental department, that the building would have 200 employees by Monday.

So they moved to Harrisburg.

Monday morning they opened the snack bar. That afternoon they heard some bad news. There were only 100 employees in the place.

"We moved from Philadelphia lock, stock and barrel on account of this," Kozel says as he stands in the gaily painted snack bar. He wears dark glasses and there is bitterness in his voice. "The first day we open we learned they won't be coming until June 22."

Toddy, a dark German Shepherd lays by Kozel's feet.

The 200 employees were only the first of 450 department employees who would occupy the building by fall, Kozel explains. The snack bar would have been a gamble, albeit an acceptable one, with only 200 potential customers.

But with 450 customers, he and Pat could have had a success.

Kozel is convinced that he can't make a go with only 100. He has no other income, and since Monday he has been grossing only $35 a day. The daily net is about $5 to $6, he says.

tables (the Office of the Blind has furnished. The office provides the equipment (tables, chairs, counters, refrigeration units). Kozel provides the stock.

A representative of the Office of the Blind has advised them to close the snack bar until the 200 employees are in. "Close it and go on welfare," Pat says the official told them.

They don't want to do that. But they don't know what to do.

Kozel explains it cost $2,000 to move their furniture from Philadelphia. And it cost another $1,000 for such basics as rent for an apartment here and stock for the snack bar.

That wiped out their savings.

And Kozel, shaken by the news the state failed to get all 200 employees in, says he can't trust assurances the entire 450 occupants will be in by fall.

He explains he may disconnect the snack bar telephone "as an austerity move."

It is ironic: While Kozel is going broke in the building, some businessmen are cashing in.

A company headed by an influential Northumberland County Democrat, William P. Zurick of Trevorton, bought the building last year for $350,000. A few months later they leased it to the state for $4 million for 10 years.

Ex-N.J. treasurer indicted

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Former New Jersey Treasurer Joseph M. McCrane Jr. was indicted Thursday on charges he planned to have contributors to Republican Gov. William T. Cahill's 1969 campaign illegally deduct their donations as business expenses.

McCrane was finance chairman in the campaign.

The indictment of McCrane came two days after Nelson G. Gross, formerly the Nixon Administration's top drug fighter and Cahill's campaign manager, was indicted by the same federal grand jury on a series of charges stemming from his supposed role in the same alleged plot.

McCrane, 48, a close friend of Cahill's, was indicted last week by a state grand jury on charges of misconduct in office and conspiring to misuse state funds by having them invested through his brother's brokerage firm.

The indictments of Gross and McCrane come within two weeks of the primary election, when Cahill faces a challenge for the GOP nod from Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr.

The first count of the indictment alleged McCrane and the co-conspirators conspired to arrange to furnish various firms with false documents showing payments for nonexistent services to Writer's Associates when the payments actually were to pay Cahill's campaign expenses.

Communists stall drive to open Cambodian road

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Heavy Communist mortar and recoilless rifle fire drove back government forces Thursday, stalling a drive to reopen Highway 5 that has reached halfway to Kompong Chhnang, 60 miles northwest of the Phnom Penh.

A second day of rain and heavy clouds prevented fast-moving U.S. warplanes from flying low in support of the troops. However, one small Cambodian air force plane strafed Communist positions along the highway.

Field reports said the government troops, operating with some 30 tank-like armored personnel carriers, fell back under an onslaught of 75mm recoilless rifle and 60 and 82mm rifle fire. Two government soldiers were killed and about 20 wounded, the reports said.

Government forces have reached approximately halfway in their operation to reopen the 60-mile link to Kompong Chhnang. Swing-wing F111 fighter-bombers flew strikes Friday along Highway 1 southeast of the capital near government positions which came under Cambodian rebel shellfire. U.S. Air Force B52s also were active, with the rumble of the heavy bombing strikes rattling windows in Phnom Penh.

Supreme Court throws out burglary convictions

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The state Supreme Court Thursday reversed burglary convictions of two men accused of taking $280,000 in cash, jewelry and securities from a home here in 1969.

Clifford D. McFarland and Roger H. Talley had asked the high court to reverse their convictions because the testimony of the state police undercover agent used to convict them did not link them to the burglary.

They were accused of taking the property from Antonio Sansone on April 6, 1969. On March 12, 1970, they were arrested after Trooper Albert Pistone, working undercover, purchased three negotiable treasury bonds from them.

"The Commonwealth's case does support the inference that the appellants knew the bonds were stolen property... but there is not sufficient evidence to sustain the inference that (they) participated in the burglary," the high court said in an opinion from Justice C.J. Jones.

However, the court did affirm charges of possession of stolen goods against the two men, noting that state evidence did "support the verdicts of guilty on charges of receiving stolen goods."

SEC counsel named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Minneapolis lawyer was named Thursday to be general counsel of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), nudging aside the candidate of former White House aide Charles W. Colson.

Lawrence E. Nerheim, 38, will take over as the SEC's top lawyer about July 1, commission officials said.

The last person to hold the job was G. Bradford Cook, who moved up to SEC chairman and resigned from that position last week after being mentioned in connection with a financing scheme involving financier Robert L. Vesco.

Nerheim, who has specialized in corporate and securities law in Minneapolis, was Cook's choice to head the commission's legal staff, an SEC spokesman said. The general counsel is traditionally chosen by the chairman.

On Wednesday, it was revealed that Colson, a former special counsel to President Nixon, and his law partner, Charles Morin, planned to bring pressure on Cook to name another SEC staff member, Charles King Mallory, to the general counsel's slot.

In a memorandum to Colson — a copy of which was published by the Washington Post — Morin said Mallory's appointment was "of extreme importance to us in representing our clients. ... If we want King's appointment to materialize, we have got to lean on Brad (Cook)."

Big bank hikes rate on interest

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co., the city's largest, on Thursday raised its prime business lending rate from 7 to 7 3/4 per cent.

The announcement quickly followed the same move made earlier in the day by the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York City, which said the lower rate was out of line with what it had to pay for money and that the new rate was low in comparison with the general interest rate structure.

The New York bank added it had no immediate intentions to raise interest rates on consumer and small business loans and mortgages.

TODAY

For a month, CBS Friday Night Movies is expanded to three hours, beginning at 8 p.m. for the showing of double and triple features. "Run Wild, Run Free" (1969) makes its first appearance on television. John Mills and Sylvia Syms are in this story of a sensitive boy who retreats into a secret world. Following this, there is a repeat of 1972's "Hunter" starring John Vernon and Steve Ihnat in the tale of an enemy plot to brainwash a government agent for an unknown purpose.

NBC's "Circle of Fear" at 9 offers "Earth, Air, Fire and Water." Ancient mysterious jars discovered in a warehouse wield an abnormal influence over six young artists who live there; Frank Converse and Joan Blackman (R).

ABC's "Love, American Style" at 10 offers "Love and the First Kiss," "Love and the Impressionist" and "Love and the Super Lover." Players include Rich Little, Frank Converse and Claude Akins (R).

"A Substitute Womb" on "The Bold Ones" for NBC at 10 deals with a woman, unable to carry a child full term because of a heart ailment, who arranges to have the embryo transplanted to her sister (R).

"ABC Wide World of Entertainment" at 11:30 has an "In Concert" program, with Miles Davis, Dan Hicks and the Hot Licks, Albert King, Dr. John and Slade. "The CBS Late Movie" is at 11:30 (to be announced).

NBC's "The Midnight Special" (12:30 a.m. Saturday) has Gladys Knight and the Pips hosting a show that includes Dr. John, the Staple Singers, John Stewart, Skylark and Robert Klein.

Today's movies

Your Horoscope

Frances Drake

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Some excellent opportunities indicated but, with them, a few more responsibilities. Accept them with good grace and you will reap fine dividends later.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Planetary influences fairly favorable, but you may need further information on activities in which you are currently involved. Seek it without delay.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Indifference could spoil what should otherwise be a good day, so be on guard. Good opportunities available, but you must seek them out. They won't come to you.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — A period for reviewing. You may have to change some procedures, systems, tie up some loose ends. If all is going well, however, you are on the right track, so keep going.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You can accomplish more by teamwork now than by "going it alone." Some fine opportunities indicated, even though results may not be immediate.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Review finances, domestic situations. Plan further moves with the future in mind and keep an especially sharp eye on investments.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Better-than-average planetary influences.

Aim for progress in a normal, tranquil manner, avoiding tenseness, haste. Some fine gains through your innate artistry.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Avoid hasty words, conclusions. If not sure, wait until you are before acting. But don't just wait, and wait — off into do-nothingness.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Overcome self-consciousness that could prevent you from producing in your usual top form. Aim for special achievement rather than accomplishment by volume.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Much deep thinking should go into this day. There will be unusual proposals and suggestions. Do not be swept away by emotionalism or bias. Let good judgment be your keyword.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Note Capricorn. Your outlook similar. Be careful not to misinterpret others' meanings and not to be misunderstood yourself. Shun gossip.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — A good time to take a definite stand in a financial matter concerned with domestic affairs. And, once having made your decision, stick with it.

Bidding quiz

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West North East South
1 ♣ 1 ♠ Pass ?

What would you bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠ J852 ♥ AK976 ♦ J4 ♣ 53
2. ♠ AK63 ♥ QJ92 ♦ Q874 ♣ 10
3. ♠ 7 ♥ AJ63 ♦ K865 ♣ Q742
4. ♠ K84 ♥ 8 ♦ AK853 ♣ J654
5. ♠ A8762 ♥ AK9432 ♦ 7 ♣ 5

1. Two spades. It is infinitely better to raise the spades than show the hearts. Two hearts would not indicate support for spades, which you have; on the contrary, it would suggest poor support. Thus, two hearts would be proper with some such hand as ♠ 8 ♥ KQ9762 ♦ K3 ♣ J843. Furthermore, two hearts would not be forcing and might result in winding up in the wrong part-score contract.

The simplest way of showing a spade fit is by raising the suit; it is certainly not necessary to particularize the nature of the spade raise at this point.

2. Four spades. It would be straining your imagination too much to expect partner to lose four tricks with this promising hand. The alternative bid, three spades, would be invitational, but not forcing, and the bidding might die then and there. The singleton club is a powerful feature that should serve to catapult you right into game.

3. Pass. This is not a pleasant thing to do, but one must be realistic in such situations. The only other sensible bid, one notrump, is somewhat dangerous. Game is unlikely, and trying to improve your position by bidding a notrump may only make matters worse — for example, if partner then bid two spades.

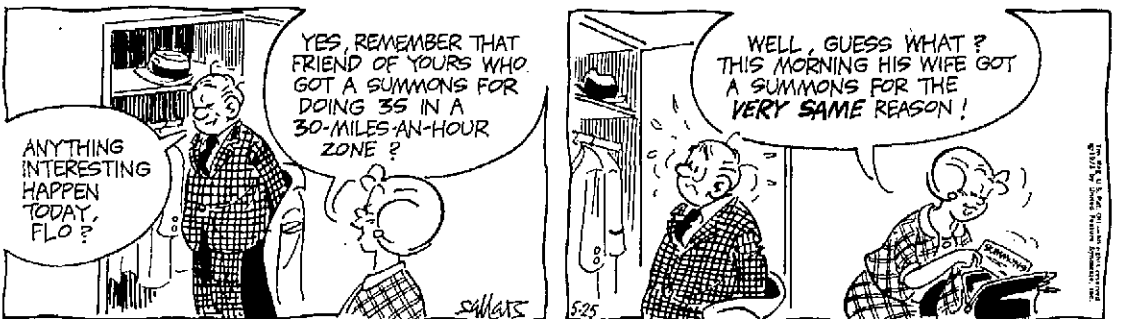

4. Three spades. It's hard to gauge the game prospects by yourself and it is therefore best to solicit partner's opinion by inviting him to go on to four. The double raise with only three trumps is unusual, but there are compensating features in the form of the high-card values as well as the singleton heart.

With a fourth trump instead of a diamond or a club, you would go directly to four. It would be wrong to merely invite a game in a hand where you'd want to be in game.

5. Four notrump. It is certainly reasonable to assume that partner can make a slam if he has an ace. You therefore use Blackwood to extract that information. The intention is to stop in five spades if North responds five clubs, showing no aces, and to bid six spades if North shows one ace by responding five diamonds.

Ann Landers

Child beating

Dear Ann Landers: With so much being said and written these days about battered children, may I add my two cents worth?

I am a mother who used to get so angry with my children I'd beat them black and blue. My six-year-old was on drugs for a nervous condition. We were both under psychiatric care. I begged my doctor to help me be a better mother. His advice was, "Control yourself! Don't lose your temper."

This went on for over a year. Then a friend told me about Recovery, Inc. Two months after I attended my first meeting I was able to control my impulses.

That was three years ago and I'm still going to meetings. I can't tell you what this organization has meant to me and to my family. I would not have believed it possible had I not experienced it myself. Please tell others that Recovery, Inc., sometimes succeeds when psychiatry fails.

—A True Believer

Dear True: I have recommended this organization before and am pleased to do so again. Recovery, Inc., has 950 chapters in the U.S. and Canada. The meetings are open and free. The members are people who have, or are trying to recover from emotional illness. Their record of success is phenomenal. Look in the phone book. If you do not see a listing, write to Recovery, Inc., National Headquarters, 116 South Michigan, Chicago 60603, for information and guidance.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is kind and considerate and everyone thinks we are happily married. The truth is I am miserable.

For 14 years I've tried to tell myself that friends, movies, plays, concerts, clubs, all the things I thoroughly enjoy, are not important, that it's better to have a faithful husband and good children. Well, it won't work. I feel like the four walls are closing in on me. My husband never wants to go anywhere. He could stay home 365 nights a year. If he yelled and argued I'd probably feel better. He just smiles and says, "You go, dear. I'm happy at home."

Our sex life is wonderful. We have no money problems. We both enjoy good health. When I tell him I'm going stir-crazy, he says, "It's just a mood, dear, you'll feel better tomorrow."

Tonight I said, "I'm going to write to Ann Landers." His reply was, "Go ahead. She has all the answers." So what's mine?

—Unfulfilled

Dear Un: The problem is that you are home all day and when evening comes you want to get out. Your husband is out all day and when evening comes he wants to stay home. My advice is to do your thing during the day—the movies, plays, concerts, etc. Accept the fact that you are not going to change him, so you'd better change yourself. He sounds too good to dump.

Dear Ann Landers: We are three Long Island high school students who want your opinion. A member of our class died last week. We went to the principal and asked if we could be excused to attend the funeral. The principal said we would have to get permission from the office of the Board of Education.

Last fall anyone who had a ticket was excused to go to see the Chinese acrobats. What kind of a world is this, anyway?

—Turned Off

Dear T.O.: Your story sounds flaky. You didn't name your school or the principal, nor did you say whether you called the Board of Education. The only thing authentic was the postmark. I looked to see if perhaps it was from New Haven, but by golly it was from Long Island. I don't buy it, however.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to know if our ten-year-old son is normal. He keeps his room straight, makes his bed, dresses and feeds his dog without being reminded. However, I don't think he would ever take a bath, change his underwear, get to school on time or do his homework if I didn't prod him. I know mothers who leave for work at 8:00 a.m. and return long after their children have returned from school. Their kids make their own breakfast, straighten their rooms and handle all their responsibilities without being policed.

Am I expecting too much from a fourth grader? If I am I wish you'd tell me.

Checking In Colorado

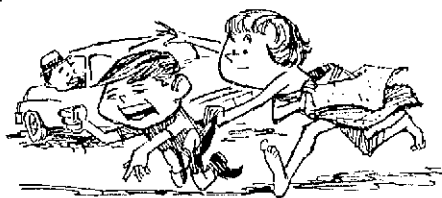

Dear Checking: Your child sounds normal to me. Those other youngsters are out of the ordinary, which is often what happens when children are given responsibilities and made to understand they must perform certain tasks—no ifs, ands, or buts. They do it because it is expected of them and nobody gives them any medals.

We're very proud to introduce you to what is probably the best entertainment value ever to be presented to the people in this area. Something very new and very different. In fact a whole new concept in television.

Something called HOME BOX OFFICE. HOME BOX OFFICE does just what its name implies. It brings into your home, right on your television, the kind of movies that you'd probably see at your local movie theater. Not the kind of movies that have been around for awhile, but the kind of movies that you'd have to go to the box office and buy tickets to see. Movies such as "Dirty Harry" starring Clint Eastwood, "McCabe and Mrs. Miller" starring Warren Beatty and Julie Christie, "Fuzz" starring Burt Reynolds and Raquel Welch, "Ulzana's Raid" starring Burt Lancaster and Bruce Davidson, "Man in the Wilderness" starring Richard Harris, John Huston and others. Movies that have never been shown on commercial television before.

You see these first-run films at your convenience, too, because HOME BOX OFFICE works the way a movie theater works: we present the latest films at a variety of times, so you can watch when it's most convenient for you.

And, since all our movies are unedited, and some are meant for adults only, our schedule gives you a chance to preview films before your children see them.

We also spare you from all those TV commercials. You won't see any on HOME BOX OFFICE. You watch each film uninterrupted from start to finish. Just as in a movie theater.

HOME BOX OFFICE also lets you see at least 15 exclusive, non-televized sporting events each month, because we send our HOME BOX OFFICE crews right to the event—where it's happening—and transmit all the live, on-the-spot action through our own closed-circuit channel. Direct to you.

HOME BOX OFFICE subscribers see professional and college basketball, WHA Hockey, the Roller Derby, boxing and wrestling live from Madison Square Garden.

You see them all on your television. With all the comforts of home.

HOME BOX OFFICE also brings you events that you've probably always wanted your family to see, but never had the chance. Events like the National Horse Show, the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show, and motorcycle racing.

It also brings your family adventure and travel specials from the mountains of Europe to the plains of Africa; special music events such as Country & Western shows, polka festivals, programs for children and much more.

HOME BOX OFFICE comes into your home through the cable TV system in your area. But it does not interfere with your cable reception.

If you're a cable subscriber now, all you need is a converter (a small box that attaches easily to your television) to give your family HOME BOX OFFICE. If you're not a cable subscriber, you'll be surprised how easy and inexpensive it is to become one. And to get HOME BOX OFFICE, too.

A HOME BOX OFFICE subscription costs only $6.00 a month. In other words, for only 20 cents a day your family can enjoy all the movies, sports and specials that HOME BOX OFFICE brings them in the safety and comfort of their own home. Very reasonable, indeed, when you consider what it would cost just to take your family to the four new movies we bring you each month.

In fact, even if you watch HOME BOX OFFICE just one night a week, it pays for itself.

Call us as soon as you can at the number below to ensure immediate installation. Or just send us the coupon. Either way, you'll get the greatest thing that has ever happened on television.

Two persons die in car accidents

Keith R. Davis
STROUDSBURG — Two persons have died as a result of injuries sustained in auto accidents.

They were: Keith R. Davis, 25, 740 Bryant St.,

Stroudsburg; and Thomas E. Dravie, 45, Rte. 6, Milford.

Davis died Thursday in St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, from injuries sustained in a bicycle-truck accident in Stroudsburg Monday.

He is survived by his widow, the former Suzanne Buck. Born in Portsmouth, N.H., he was the son of Raymond K. and E. Cecile (Juras) Davis. He was a graduate of New Hampshire Vocational Technical College.

He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg. At the time of his death, he was employed at Frank Buck Motors, Stroudsburg.

In addition to his wife and parents, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Joanne Lemay, Manchester, N.H.; and one brother, Ronald Davis, Delaware Water Gap.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg with Rev. William C. Leopold officiating.

Burial will be in Laurelwood Cemetery, Stroudsburg.

Viewing will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Richard J. Kofach Funeral Home, Stroudsburg.

Thomas E. Dravie
Dravie was killed Wednesday in a car accident on Rte. 206, Montague, N.J.

He is survived by his widow, the former Helen Friel Boyd. Born in Reno, he was a son of the late Joseph and Elizabeth (Hasechak) Dravie. He lived in Milford for the past six years.

He was a past president of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Claimsman Assn. He was a member of St. Patrick's Church, Milford, the Milford Lions Club, Renovo Elks Lodge and Kappa Delta Rho Fraternity. He was a graduate of Lycoming College.

A funeral mass will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Patrick's Church, Milford, with Rev. Msgr. Michael Kennedy officiating.

Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Ilyner.

Viewing will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. today at the Stroyan and Crellin Funeral Home, Milford.

Three plead guilty, 10 innocent in court

STROUDSBURG — Three persons accused of crimes pleaded guilty Thursday, but 10 others maintained their innocence as Monroe County Judge Arlington W. Williams arraigned persons indicted for the June term of criminal court.

Charles LeRoy Chapman of East Stroudsburg admitted violating the firearms act and was ordered to seek psychiatric services.

Floyd Learn of Stroudsburg, charged with obstructing an officer and Mathew Brechhof of Bronx, N.Y., charged with being an accessory in the second degree, also admitted guilt.

Those pleading innocent to the following charges were: Robert Alexander of East Stroudsburg (unlawful acts relative to liquor, brewed beverage and license); Edward Johnson of Stroudsburg (assault with intent to kill); Sylvia Oakes of Stroudsburg (larceny); Frank Albright of Texas and Mary Lou Taylor of Indiana (both charged with robbery with an accomplice male while armed).

Edward Lokuta of Scranton (burglary and larceny); Louis Davis of East Stroudsburg (aggravated assault and battery); Donald McCoy of Minisink Hills (assault and battery); Charles Lawton of Newfoundland (larceny and receiving stolen goods).

John Taylor of Mount Pocono (worthless checks).

Youth wins oratorical contest
GETTYSBURG — An East Stroudsburg High School sophomore has won honors in the district oratorical contest in Gettysburg. This is the first time an area student has participated in the event.

Richard Thelemann, East Stroudsburg, R. D. 1, took fifth place out of 11 contestants in the district competition, sponsored annually by Optimists' International.

He had previously won the local contest in Stroudsburg March 27 and the regional competition in Allentown April 12.

ESSC alumni honored

EAST STROUDSBURG — Three graduates of East Stroudsburg State College have been chosen as recipients of the 1973 Distinguished Alumni Award at the college. The awards were presented at a recent luncheon in Dansbury Commons.

Receiving awards were Trevor B. Williams of Bangor, Robert L. Gantert, of Lynwood, Washington, and Katherine E. Kaufmann of Reading.

Trevor Williams is a 1936 graduate of East Stroudsburg State College where he received the Bachelor of Science degree in education with certification in social studies, general science and English. Presently superintendent of the Bangor Area Schools, he has taught and served as a guidance counselor in that school district.

Robert L. Gantert, a 1948 graduate of East Stroudsburg, is presently a teacher of anthropology and zoology and is a science consultant in the public school system of Seattle and at Seattle Community College. From 1951 to 1963 he served as head of the science department at Alexander Hamilton Junior High School in Seattle.

Gantert holds memberships in the Washington Education Assn., the National Education Assn.

High accident area reviewed

STROUDSBURG — Three Monroe County residents who perished April 19 in a one-car accident near Saylorsburg died at one of the 95 "high accident locations" in the county, according to the state Department of Transportation.

Responding to inquiries by the Monroe County Commissioners, PennDOT spokesman J. R. Doughty said the death site is "number 30 on that list and is tied with eight others" in degree of danger.

The site is a curve on the north side of a hill along old Route 115 just before entering Saylorsburg.

Responsible for safety improvement in six counties, Doughty stated, "I cannot at this point request the team to forego the analysis of more 'hazardous' accident locations to do a detailed analysis of this site."

The highway at that point had been resurfaced seven months earlier and was "good" at the time of the accident, Doughty stated. "It must be understood that all accidents cannot be solved by some action of the department," he added.

Allocations of $12,820 and $1,250 were made to the tri-county Mental Health Mental Retardation agency and the Tucks Island Regional Advisory Council respectively as the county's share of funding the agencies.

Robert Sengle of Cresco was appointed as a sealer of weights and measures to replace Philip Shaller who resigned from the post Monday.

Effective June 15, the county seat will have a single phone number for all governmental offices. It will be 424-5100.

Hamilton supervisors tour compacting station

Hamilton Township Planner Val Robbins inspects loading trough at compacting station.

By STEVE DRACHLER
Pocono Record Reporter

ABINGTON — Nestled in this quiet upper middle class neighborhood just northeast of Philadelphia is, of all things, a solid waste compacting station.

And to Monroe County residents, it could be a very important compacting system.

The three Hamilton Township supervisors, a planning commission member and three county trash haulers, visited the transfer station Thursday.

All four township officials came home last Thursday afternoon admitting they liked what they saw.

Since Pocono Township officials may rule out any possibility of locating the vital garbage transfer site in that municipality, a spot in Hamilton Township is now seriously being considered by transfer station developer Hermann Vollmer.

Vollmer took the four township officials to the Montgomery County solid waste transfer station to let them have a first hand look at how such a station operates.

The $800,000 facility can handle up to 600 tons of garbage a day, compact the trash into 16-18 ton loads for 40-foot trailers for transportation to the county's landfill a few miles away.

In operation for 11 months, the facility handles the trash of four municipalities — or about 120,000 residents.

The plant planned for Monroe County will be about one-half the size of the Montgomery County operation, according to Vollmer.

He said instead of 100 garbage trucks going in and out of the Abington plant, Monroe County's transfer station would have less than 20.

But then prices would obviously be higher for the Monroe station, $9.65 per ton compared to $6.00 per ton at Abington.

That's explainable because of the higher volume for the suburban facility explains Chris Campman, plant supervisor.

The county operated transfer station is a brick faced building, landscaped and less than 200 yards from the nearest house.

The Monroe County station would be a steel building. Campman emphasized there has not been a single complaint about the station from any local residents.

"Of course, there were grumbles before we opened, but since the place began full operation there hasn't been a whimper," he added.

One really noticeable fact about the station was the smell.

Or really, the lack of it.

Visitors expected to smell the acrid odor of garbage when they walked onto the grounds, but surprisingly, the only odors detectable were inside the lean-to shaped building right next to the garbage chutes.

Once outside the open-faced structure, there were no odors nor bugs.

Campman said the area is sprayed every night for bugs and except for extremely hot and humid days in the summer, the ripe smell of garbage can only be detected near the actual transfer area.

Garbage, once compacted is loaded into sealed 40-foot tractor-trailers.

While Montgomery County owns the tractor-trailers, the transfer at the Monroe County facility will be done by the landfill owner, according to Vollmer.

Vollmer and Hamilton Township officials will discuss locating the facility in the township and then bring the matter up at a public meeting and make a decision.

Both parties agreed to meet in the near future to map out plans and seek a solution.

Vollmer is anxious to build the facility as soon as possible.

He says he would like to begin operations before the Stroudsburg landfill closes in October.

Pocono Mountain slashes school tax rate 12 mills

By LORA SHARPE

Pocono Record Reporter
SWITZWATER — Residents of Pocono Mountain School District will pay 12 mills less real estate tax and forego the per capita tax under the district's 1973-74 budget, tentatively approved Thursday.

The budget totals $4,449,883, an increase of 17 per cent — $850,359 — over the 1972-73 budget.

The decrease in tax millage from 49 to 37 mills is due primarily to "a substantial increase" in real estate value because of the 1972 county reassessment which goes into effect this year.

The budget increase stems chiefly from additional operating costs of the new senior high school and middle school. Accordingly, the operation of plant expenses rose $120,000 over last year.

Instruction costs — including salaries and materials — will consume almost half of the budget or $2,126,441, an increase of $200,000 over last year.

Acting Superintendent

James Davenport spoke of the rising salary structure for school employees and additional personnel for a greater number of students in the district's schools as reasons for the rising cost of instruction.

Capital expenditures for student transportation were also cited by Davenport as contributing to the increased budget.

Capital outlay costs — investments, construction payments — nearly doubled in the 1973-74 budget schedule, from $87,796 to $166,874.

In other action, the board voted to subtitle the new senior high school the William F. Nye Building. Nye is presently on leave of absence from his superintendent's post. The new school's identifying plaque will be inscribed with Nye's name.

The board reappointed John J. Riley, C.P.A. as the district's auditor with a $200 salary raise over the accountant's 1972-73 fee. Riley will receive $1,800 yearly plus costs for additional work.

Board members questioned the sum the district could be required to pay "for additional work," citing the auditor's work with the state school auditor as an expensive part of the extra time.

However, business manager David Neison also noted the auditor may not spend any additional time on the district's books that he would charge the board for.

The board accepted three resignations: Raymond Cerra, math instructor at the high school for five years; Cheryl Klaus, Spanish and history teacher at the high school for five years; and Christina Zardecki, first grade teacher at Barrett Elementary School for five years.

includes teachers' salaries.

District Superintendent John C. Mills said the $325,107.60 for instruction, up more than $87,000 over the $238,000 for the current term, may still go even higher.

"We still haven't completed negotiations with the teachers, so that figure may have to be torn up and I might have to revise that amount," said Mills.

Administrative expenses will increase nearly $30,000 over the present $66,000. Mills said the increase was partially due to the inclusion of the architect's fee for new construction.

The decrease in millage was mainly attributed to an increase in assessed value in the district, increasing from $12,671,825 to nearly $18 million.

Based on a 94 per cent collection expectation, due to duplication of names on the tax rolls and also to a death factor of persons on the lists, the district expects to collect $789,338.88 from real estate taxes, while it collected nearly $130,000 less in 1972-73.

Due to the increase in assessment, available revenue has also increased from $619,300.80 to $741,978.54.

Resources are up $118,000 over the 1972-73 year, but spending is also up, said Mills, thus accounting for the difference in projected capital reserve.

The 1973-74 district budget is as follows:

Administration, $97,228; Instruction, $925,107.60; pupil personnel services, $250; health services, $14,170; pupil transportation services, $164,470; fixed charges, $123,252.50; food services, $6,500; student activities, $32,110; capital outlay (for general fund), $71,215.

Also, debt service, $100,364.34; inter-system payments, $87,720 and budgetary reserve, $15,000.

P.V. school directors cut proposed budget tax rate

By JOE MIEGOC

Pocono Record Reporter
BRODHEADSVILLE — Pleasant Valley School District slashed district tax millage from 52 to 44 mills in presenting a proposed $1,834,387 district operating budget Thursday for 1973-74.

The total budget calls for expenditures of $1,801,767.44, an increase of nearly $350,000 from the current school budget. The district expects to raise $1,834,387.35 in revenue.

Revenue from local sources, including the real estate, wage and per capita taxes, is expected to amount to $1,012,804.04 an increase of more than $118,000 over last year.

State revenue will be up $11,000 from $530,371.00 in 1972-73, while federal revenue will drop from $32,608 in the current school year to $15,000 for the new term.

The largest total increase in expenditures will come in the instruction category, which

Two sentenced for drug sales

STROUDSBURG — Two Monroe County men were sentenced to a year in rehabilitation for selling drugs and another was sentenced for possession of more than 30 grams of marijuana.

Judge Arlington W. Williams sentenced Norman Berger of Saylorsburg and Peter Bree of Mount Pocono to a year at York Crest, a rehabilitation center near Harrisburg.

"As far as I'm concerned, as long as I sit here people are not going to sell drugs in this county and not be punished," Williams declared.

He sentenced David Cramer of Swiftwater to four to 12 months in rehabilitation at Glendon House near Easton.

Edward Comstock and Mark Henry of Tobyhanna were fined $200 and sentenced to 30 days in jail for drug racing.

And Brian Hanley and Martin Farrell, owners of Camelot Inn in Tannersville were fined $500 for selling to minors. Williams suspended sentence on a charge of allowing minors to frequent.

Hanley and Farrell said they had little control over minors who enter their inn under false identification. Williams said they should rely on a state Liquor Control Board card.

Jean Poland of Tobyhanna was ordered to pay $300 and costs for having sold beer to a minor.

Arthur Heeter of East Stroudsburg was granted an "accelerated rehabilitative disposition" placing him on probation for six months.

Charged with larceny and unlawful entry, Heeter was probated on condition he make restitution, pay costs, complete college or get a job and not visit the East Stroudsburg school without authorization.

Heeter had been charged with entering the East Stroudsburg High School without authorization by using keys taken from the school principal.

According to District Attorney James F. Marsh, "it appeared he was about to remove a musical instrument."

If Heeter completes the probation period he may have the charge dismissed without trial or conviction.

Hearing scheduled for teacher

STROUDSBURG — A Stroudsburg Area High School teacher charged with assaulting one of his students will have a hearing at 10:45 p.m. Tuesday before District Magistrate Earl Ammerman.

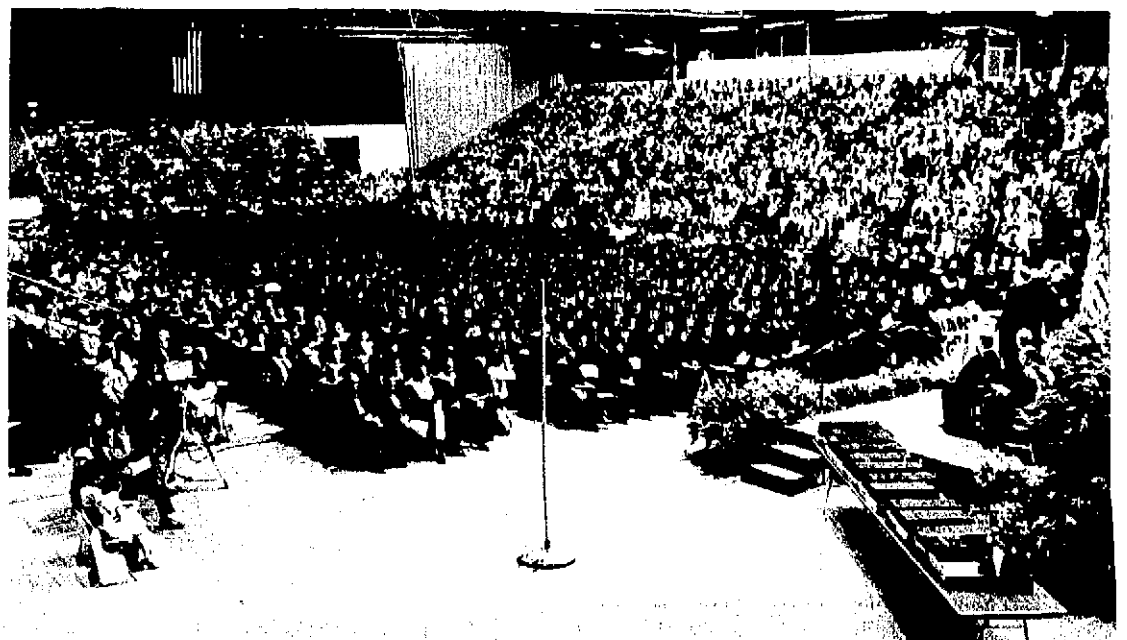

Lee Mangan, 25, 110 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, is accused of assaulting Walter Patterson, 14, 610 Fulmer Ave., Stroudsburg on May 16.

The alleged assault occurred in the hallway of the Stroudsburg Junior High School, according to Joseph Patterson, the boy's father, who filed the complaint.

Ammerman issued a warrant for Mangan's arrest. The suspect was arraigned before District Magistrate Graden Praetorius and released on $1 nominal bail.

Degrees earned

STROUDSBURG — Two local students have received undergraduate degrees from Seton Hall University. Denise Ann Baratta of Martins Creek has received a degree in elementary education and Eugene James Uguccioni of Mountainhome has earned a degree in modern languages.

ESSC graduates asked: 'What have you learned?'

By GERARD SUTHERLIN
Pocono Record Reporter

EAST STROUDSBURG — After being asked to reflect on what they have learned from the experiences as college students, 653 graduates received degrees from East Stroudsburg State College Thursday night.

The commencement exercises, presided over by ESSC President Darrell Holmes, was led off with an address by Jerome M. Ziegler, Pennsylvania Commissioner for Higher Education of the State Department of Education.

Ziegler began his address with the statement, "We are living in an age when great demands are being made on our educational institutions, and these demands appear to be increasing."

This was an apparent reference to the financial stress being placed on ESSC and other Pennsylvania state colleges because of recent unpopular federal and state budget cutbacks.

Calling the past two decades, when most of the graduates were growing up, "a period of change as well as constants," Ziegler reflected on some of the events in the news during May, 1953 — 20 years ago.

Noting the great number of changes that have taken place in the world in the intervening years "as well as many things that are still the same," Ziegler characterized May 24, 1973 as "an end and a beginning" in the lives of the graduates.

"This is an end to 16 years of schooling and preparation, and it is the beginning of many new life experiences for you," said Ziegler. "I invite you at this time to reflect on the question 'What have you learned?'"

After congratulating the graduates, Ziegler praised their families, the college faculty and "the communities which support our state colleges." And of each of these groups, the commissioner asked the same question, "what have you learned?"

"I am a Jeffersonian," said Ziegler. "I believe as Jefferson did that a democratic society's foundation rests on a free and enlightened citizenry." The speaker said this concept has led him to agree with Jefferson that "government has a direct responsibility for education."

Praising the Pennsylvania state college and community college systems, Ziegler said their contributions to liberty are valuable "because we need a free society more than ever today."

"One could not speak on a public forum such as this today on law and education without discussing the Watergate incident which has been a central domestic issue in our nation lately," said Ziegler.

"If there is one thing we learn from this, it should be that we apparently have not impressed our respect for law and honesty in government on our political leaders," he said.

"No one has the right to prevent us from searching for the truth," Ziegler concluded. "This search for truth is at the heart of this or any college."

Highway noise high in Monroe

STROUDSBURG — Noise levels in the Stroudsburg area were characterized as "fairly high" Wednesday by noise testers from the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation (PennDOT).

Readings were taken at 10 locations Monday and Tuesday.

Joseph Malasheskie, in charge of the study, is assimilating test results in a report for the Bureau of Traffic Safety which will recommend noise control action for the area.

The study was requested by Monroe County Commissioners in March to determine whether a noise problem does, in fact, exist in the county.

Noise meters were employed at each test site twice — once at peak traffic time, and once at an "average" time.

Malasheskie observed, however, "the time of day doesn't matter up here. There's a lot of traffic all the time."

Although Malasheskie called the Stroudsburg readings high, he does not know if area noise levels will meet regulations in the Bureau of Traffic Safety which call for state action.

PennDOT officials indicated test results could influence revision of state noise regulations.

Malasheskie did state that some area residents near Interstate 80 "have a problem" with noise. But, he added, that kind of noise is expected from a highway.

State police will receive noise meters from the Bureau of Traffic Safety in the near future, according to PennDOT, for testing in Monroe and Pike Counties.

California studies drug use by Chargers

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The California Board of Medical Examiners and district attorney's office said Thursday they have begun investigations into allegations members of the San Diego Chargers National Football League team were supplied with potent drugs which were taken without prescriptions.

"The case has now been officially opened for investigation," Darrell Schryver, special consumer investigator for the district attorney's office, said. "We will be getting the depositions as soon as possible."

The alleged drug practices were revealed in depositions taken in a lawsuit filed by former San Diego player Houston Ridge against the Chargers. An out-of-court settlement was reached in the case. The San Diego Union newspaper carried a series of articles concerning the depositions recently. "The information was so clear and well documented by depositions that it was mandatory that some form of probe be started as soon as possible," Ray Reed, executive director of the Board of Medical Examiners, said in Sacramento.

The depositions said basically that the Chargers were given 1,000 prescription pills a year through a bulk delivery system.

In one year, 2,250 desbutal pep pill capsules, 1,850 sedative-type drugs and 1,000 capsules of molidar, a sleeping pill, were among the drugs delivered, the depositions said.

The depositions centered on 1971, the year Ridge sustained injuries which ended his career. His suit blamed the pills for making him appear ready to play before he was able.

Among those listed in the depositions were team physician Dr. E. Paul Woodward, pharmacist Ed Whelan and trainer Jimmy Van Deusen. The latter was replaced by Harland Svare after he took over for Sid Gillman, who was coach at the time.

Svare said he never knowingly had seen any athlete take a dangerous pill. According to the depositions, the pills were delivered to the players by Whelan, using Woodward's prescription authority. The depositions listed Woodward and Van Deusen as saying the pills were handed out by Van Deusen without prescriptions.

Van Deusen was quoted as saying he sometimes put "desbutal in an envelope for the players."

The investigating agencies did not say what avenue their investigations would take other than "full inquiries were ordered."

McAuliffe, Lolich team to beat Yanks

DETROIT (UPI) — Dick McAuliffe's three-run home run in the fourth inning provided Mickey Lolich all the runs he needed Thursday night to give the Detroit Tigers a 4-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

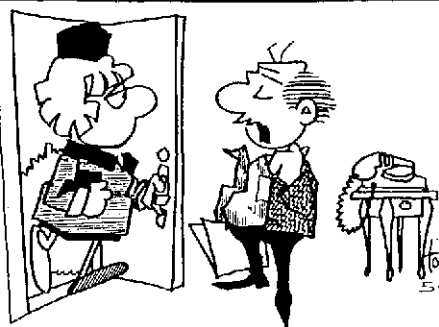

Lolich scattered six singles and struck out three to win his third game of the season against five defeats. McAuliffe lagged loser George Medich, 3-2, for his first home run of the season after singles by Gates Brown and Duke Sims. Jim Northrup singled off reliever Jim Magnuson to drive in the Tigers' fourth run in the eighth. The win broke a tie between Detroit and New York for first place in the American League East.

Medich had allowed the Tigers only one hit until the single by Brown, returning to the lineup after four days of being flat on his back due to what was believed to be a pinched nerve.

Joseph Sold By His Brothers

And they . . . lifted Joseph out of the pit and sold (him) to the Ishmeelites for twenty pieces of silver. —Genesis 37:28

Joseph, youngest son of the patriarch Jacob, was his father's favorite, much to the envy of his brothers. And when Jacob made the lad a coat of many colors, such as they had never seen, their envy turned to hatred. Hate was intensified when Joseph related his dreams of one day reigning over them, so they plotted to kill him. But Reuben, the eldest, dissuaded them. Instead, they stripped him of his coat and threw him into a waterless pit, intending to leave him to the mercy of wild beasts. But just then a band of merchants appeared and, led by greed, they sold the boy for twenty pieces of silver.

Next week: JOSEPH RESISTS POTIPHAR'S WIFE.

10th year at Gilbert

40th Anniversary celebrated

GILBERT — Rev. Wilmer C. Mantz, pastor of the Salem United Church of Christ, will celebrate his 40th anniversary of his ordination and the 10th anniversary of his ministry Sunday at the Gilbert church.

Guest speaker for the 10:30 a.m. service will be Rev. A. Augustus Welsh, D.D., pastor emeritus of Christ Church, Bethlehem. Rev. Alan A. Bohner of Kunkletown will serve as liturgist.

A covered dish social will be held following the service in the Fellowship Hall in honor of Rev. Mantz' anniversary as a reception for the confirmation class and other new members.

The old Salem church was completely renovated and new furnishings installed and a parsonage constructed during Rev. Mantz' first pastorate there.

When he came back in 1966, an $11,000 debt on the new church was paid. Improvements in the church and Sunday School buildings during his second pastorate cost more than $25,000. Last summer, the Charge gave $1,500 to the Wyoming Valley Flood Fund.

Colors coming in Black robe on way out

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — A United Presbyterian Church official believes the black clergy robe is "on its way out" and a general overall brightening is needed.

The Rev. Horace T. Allen, the director of the church's Office of Worship and Music, told a workshop during the 185th United Presbyterian General Assembly meeting here that the traditional clerical garb should not be done away with altogether.

"Vestments are needed, the Rev. Allen said. "But they should be colorful and festive ones suitable to worship's purpose, which is to celebrate the resurrection and Jesus' presence among people."

In addition, Rev. Allen called for church members to show more "warmth in worship, in the sharing of respective gifts, and to acknowledge one another."

"For us," he said, "even to share a hymnal with a neighbor in the pew may be traumatic."

The Rev. Allen said as practical steps toward encouraging worshippers "to begin to speak with one another" churches could use more announcements made by the lay people rather than by the minister, prayers spoken or written by lay people during services and response to the preached word during the worship.

E.S. student to graduate

EAST STROUDSBURG — Richard Voss, son of Mr. Aaron H.G. Voss of East Stroudsburg R.D. 3, will receive a bachelor's degree with a major in counseling psychology from St. Fidelis College and Seminary.

Voss entered St. Fidelis in 1968 after attending high school at Cardinal Dougherty High School, Philadelphia. After graduation Voss will continue his studies for the priesthood at the Washington Theological Coalition, Washington D.C.

New Lutheran pastor

Robert Newpher

GOULDSBORO — Mr. Robert J. Newpher, a native of Reading, Pennsylvania, has been called by the Northeastern Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church in America to serve as pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, Gouldsboro, where he will assume all the pastoral duties there and relate to the Pocono Leisure Ministry of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Synod starting June 1, 1973.

On May 18, 1973 Mr. Newpher received the Master of Divinity degree from the Lutheran Theological Seminary of Philadelphia at graduation services held in Trinity Lutheran Church, Lansdale, Penna. He will be ordained by the Northeastern Pennsylvania Synod on Thursday, May 24th at ordination services to be held at St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Reading, Penna., his home congregation. His sponsor for ordination will be the Rev. Samuel C. Jaxheimer, Pastor of St. Luke's.

Mr. Newpher is a graduate of Reading Senior High School and of Albright College, Reading, where he received the Bachelor of Arts degree in history. At Albright he was a member of the concert choir and its baritone soloist. In seminary he served a quarter of Clinical Pastoral Education at Wernersville State Hospital, Wernersville.

Mr. Newpher is married to the former Suzanne Stanton of West Orange, New Jersey who has worked for YWCA as a director of youth activities for the last three years. They will reside at the Lutheran parsonage Gouldsboro.

Take your problems to Church this week — millions leave them there!

Jack O'Brian's

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Norman Mailer's book about Marilyn Monroe will name names. Jack's not Bobby's... Ari Onassis ambling 5th Ave. dropped into his favorite supermarket — Harry Winston's gemparium... Britain won't like it if Jomo Kenyatta gets a Nobel Peace Prize... Nixon's Nobel nomination doesn't stand a chance; Henry Kissinger's a dark horse... Does Greyhound think we believe its millionaire TV pitchman Fred MacMurray rides a bus?

Guess who was the 1962 Miss Army Recruiting Girl for the Defense Dept.: Jane Fonda! While allegedly tidying up Times Square, Jawn Lindsay might do something about chasing the winos who sprawl drunkenly on Duffy Square's benches all day long... The P.J. Clarke's midnight mob included Joe DiMaggio, Dick Cavett, Harvey Korman, Howard Cosell, Edward Bennett Williams, Frank Gifford, Sonny Werblin.

Edward Bennett Williams told us his anti-Nixon efforts for his clients the Democrats got him dropped as attorney for the Teamsters... After which Teamster Pres. Fitzsimmons tried to hire one of Ed's associates who'd worked on Teamsters legal problems for years. The lawyer said it would be too abrupt a shift and might look as if he'd stolen the client from Williams... Who told us the Teamsters bosses then assured the lawyer of a transition period; they'd make him an "assistant secretary of Labor for six months first"; Oh, brother!

The sports-reminiscence in P.J.'s included this Vince Lombardi exchange: Vince once was needed because he'd played one aging, slow star "because he's an Italian." Vince's sense of humor rose to the occasion: "No, I played him because I'm an Italian!"... Bobby Riggs in the male chauvinist championship tennis match looked like Arte Johnson of Laugh-In.

Jack E. Leonard left more friends in showbiz than any comic we've ever known. Underneath that Mark VII tank exterior he had a heart of purest mush; and his wit was just as fast as it seemed in performance... One midnight we sat in Lindy's and 350-pound Jack couldn't turn around to see who'd just said hello to us... He asked who it was. We couldn't remember for a moment the man's name, only that "He's the fellow who goes with Lucy Monroe, the gal who sings the Star Spangled Banner at sports events." Jack didn't miss a beat: "Francis Scott Key," he flipped. Once in our living room Jack was being kidded about being Jewish and someone needed him by demanding facetiously what the Jews had done. "Let's see one of your kids split the Red Sea," Jack replied... We'd known him since his USO days: When he traipsed the world to entertain G.I.'s he didn't change, sensitive and vulnerable and gem-bright, a heart bigger than himself. We'll miss him.

Dick Cavett in P.J.'s remembered our review of his very first TV appearance (with Merv Griffin — and no one else reviewed his debut) in which we enthused and labeled him a "calm"...

whole nights... "40 Carats" will be Gene Kelly's first film in eight years. Haven't missed him probably because he's on TV late-lates constantly... Philly's Steve Carlton (baseball's best last season) now can afford to hang around the cafes often and late... Famous literary window has bottle fatigue.

Leontyne Price's divorce last week came as a surprise: she'd been perfectly happy separated 14 years from William Warfield... Happiest divorcee in showbiz: brilliant pianist Marian McPartland and ex-hubby Jimmy McP. of the grand Dixieland trumpet who open with their own group at the Royal Box of the Americana for a spring run; haven't fought once since they divorced... No more can clubs give patrons just booze and food: the Genesis screens first run films after midnight. And backgammon until 4 a.m.

A musicalized "Cyrano" has been a dream of many Bdwy. producers but the one starring Christopher Plummer now at the Palace Theater is less than the dream, less than a nightmare to be sympathetic, but tenuous, pedantic and as it drones into the finale, suffocating. Jose Ferrer's long-ago performance remains the definitive modern triumph and Mr. Plummer's somewhat neatly mechanical affectations pale alongside; Anthony Burgess' book and lyrics are tangled in the halls of ivy, Michael J. Lewis' music seems drenched in "Man of La Mancha," "Stop the World" and other pasticheal sounds... Leigh Beery's Roxana is as lovely as is legal, limpidly stylish, the best performance in a disappointing show.

Producer Richard Gregson's credits in the program cite him as a former professional "tea taster"... It's Ella Fitzgerald's 38th year as a professional singer — and still no one comes close in her estimable category... Harry Danner is starring in Lehman Engel's "Student Prince" production opening in Philly en route to JFK Center. He's Blythe Danner's kid brother. Blythe is the blithe and bright young stage star (of "Butterflies Are Free")... Our favorite political comeback of the week — Chicago Mayor Daley's to reporters pressing him on an aide's conflict of in-

ESSC prof. discusses H₂O quality

EAST STROUDSBURG — Dr. Clarence J. Murphy, chairman of the department of chemistry at East Stroudsburg State College, recently delivered a paper entitled "Water Quality Research at East Stroudsburg State College" at a symposium on Undergraduate Research in Chemistry. The symposium was sponsored by the State University of New York at Binghamton. The paper described the work of students of Dr. Cheng-Yin Cheng, professor of chemistry, who have been engaged in research on the water quality of streams and lakes of Monroe County. Also attending the symposium from the department of chemistry were Dr. Robert F. Schramm, Dr. Lendon M. Pridgen, Diane Bofinger, senior chemistry-biology major, and Michael Seworin, sophomore chemistry major.

BOLENS MULCHING MOWER
CUTS THE TIME IT TAKES TO CUT THE GRASS
Model 8444 Self Propelled

A Bolens mulching mower is faster because it does more than cut the grass. With the exclusive Mulching-Mower (TM) system suction in the fully enclosed chamber sets the grass up. The patented multi-pitch blade cuts the grass... then cuts and re-cuts the airborne clippings before blowing them down evenly dispersed into the lawn. Because they're chopped fine, the clippings quickly decompose to feed your lawn. No clippings to be raked or bagged. So the mulching mower dramatically cuts the time and cuts the work.

Limited Special on Bolens new 728 Riding Mower

Now, through June 15, 1973 the all new Bolens 728 Rider, designed with extra safety and performance as standard equipment, is priced at $499.95 and you receive FREE an electric start kit, with a retail value of $78.00.

Library-like protest

Libraries look for recognition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Libraries are something we all take for granted, users and non-users alike.

So the symbolism of quiet, peaceful, library-like protests on May 8 by libraries across the land may have gone unnoticed even by regular patrons who weren't around during the lunch hour when many libraries dimmed their lights to draw attention to a proposed elimination of federal funds for public, school and college libraries.

"We're sorry," said a protest promotional announcement prepared by the American Library Association (ALA), which coordinated the light dimming. "Due to circumstances beyond our control, tomorrow looks like the day we won't be bringing you the library. The lights are dimming on your right to know. Don't let it happen to you."

Gimmicky? Sure. A vast amount of money to be lost? No, only $140 million.

Stakes are great

But look what is at stake if the cuts are approved by Congress, according to ALA: books in braille for the blind; ghetto and rural library services that didn't exist before federal funding became available; books for the homebound, the aged, the handicapped, imprisoned and hospitalized; scholarships for library students; inter-library loan systems that make special films and materials available over great distance...The list is even longer.

The ALA sees the cutback as a new assault on freedom of information and asks, "Who'd want to turn out the lights in the library?"

For its part, the Nixon administration says that federal funding for public libraries, through the Library Services and Construction Act; elementary and high school libraries, through the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, and college libraries, through the Higher Education Act, is no longer necessary.

"With the increasing availability of general revenue sharing funds, it is expected that states and localities will be able to continue the most promising projects and programs formerly supported by federal categorical assistance programs."

Librarians feel this would force them into an unfair competition at the local level with police and firemen for money for books.

Our learn-to-fly program uses Piper's new learning system to improve speed, comprehension and convenience

Now, in a Piper Flite Center exclusive, we offer a total learning system for aspiring pilots that brings the latest technology to the teaching of flying.

It's the Piper Instructional Program featuring an audio-visual system that uses movies, animation, slides and sound to teach basic flight principles on the ground before you put them into practice in the air. The Piper Instructional Program helps you learn on your schedule, at your speed.

Because you're not tied down to a class you can schedule lessons whenever convenient for you. And you proceed at your own speed...even back up if you wish to review. And you give yourself quizzes along the way to test comprehension.

We'd like you to come out and take a "test flight" of our audio-visual system. See how an airplane's controls operate...how you will control the airplane...how you will take off and land. Come out for a free trial. Just call for an appointment.

$5 Introductory Flight Lesson

You'll pilot the plane along with a government-rated instructor. Includes a "test flight" on the audio-visual system.

Ira and Irene Popkin came home to a '73 Pinto Squire Wagon because they wanted a shopping cart built like a car instead of a car built like a shopping cart.

Irene Popkin, Clifton, N.J., mother of two and shopper for four, wanted a car that was a lot more than "cute."

Her husband Ira had owned small cars before, wanted their economy — but without being pushed across the road whenever a stiff breeze came along.

The Pinto Squire Wagon gave them what they wanted.

Fold down the rear seat, open the rear liftgate, and you have almost 6 feet of load floor that can gulp up sixty cubic feet of kids, cartons, bridge chairs, or whatever else you get carried away by.

You also have a surprisingly big, 2000cc overhead cam, 4-cylinder engine. And front disc brakes to harness this extra power.

"I do all my shopping once a week," says Irene, "and when I come out with my bundles, it's a joy to get everything in the back of the car and still have plenty of room for the kids and their paraphernalia."

"The Pinto's ability to hold the road at high speeds with no feeling of any cross-current of winds surprises me," says Ira. "I think it's a great tribute to a small car."

The 1973 Pinto Squire Wagon is a subcompact that won't cramp your wallet or your legs or your notion of what a car should be.

See your local Ford Dealer.

Unexplained theories

Dr. Bergen Evans, humorist, author, and lecturer in the Department of English at Northwestern University, confided in one of his speeches that he held an inherent belief that God would never strike him down in a plane if he were riding in first class.

It comforted me enormously to hear him say that because I hold a lot of irrational, unexplained theories that I know to be true because I feel them on the hair on my neck.

I know that all size 8s are childless and that if they ultimately were to give birth, they too would be unable to get out of deep chairs and wear bikinis without a coat.

Also that Paul Newman never bleeds when he shaves, Jackie Onassis never has bad breath, and Miss American never sweats.

It is written somewhere that the minute I take down my ironing board, my heart will stop beating and my life will be over.

That women with long fingernails never make meat loaf and have husbands who make over $50,000 a year.

That my dog is laughing (so highly pitched that only other dogs can hear him) when he sees me come out of the shower.

That I personally could put an end to droughts by washing

Eastwood's next
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Clint Eastwood will be seen next in "Magnum Force," a sequel to his box office hit "Dirty Harry."

my picture window on the outside.

Maybe you have no hard-core statement of facts to back up the crawling feeling of the hairs on your neck, but anyone would be a fool to tempt fate and take a chance.

Who among you would face the back of an elevator just to be cute? Who would rip the tags off of pillows and chairs when you know in your heart it would place you in mortal sin?

Who would dare ignore an airline hostess when she is telling you about your supply of oxygen and points of exit?

Frankly, have you the guts to tell an appliance what you really think of it, or somewhere in the small of your mind is there a nagging that they are little people from another planet who are just waiting to "take over."

It is obvious (and has been from the beginning) that coat hangers are bisexual and will not control their reproduction cycles until we are all dispossessed from our homes by them.

And I also know as well as I am sitting here that a mother who goes on a field trip to the stockyards with 43 second graders will have a divine death without pain.

Keep chins up

CAMPAIGN: (Q.) I do not have a boy friend. I am a little on the chubby side, but I am on a diet.

This boy had a girl friend last year. She was really ugly. She moved, so I thought I had a chance. I didn't tell any of my friends I liked him, because I have heard that if you do they will tell.

I have been wearing a little makeup and holding my stomach in. I say "Hi!" to him and try to talk to him, but I just don't catch his eye. Help!

13 in Indiana

(A.) You are wise for 13. Lose that chub, stay friendly and walk straight. Do what you know is right. And you will catch some boy's eye.

JUDGMENT: (Q.) There's this boy I like. He is older than I. He's 15 and I'm 14. He talks to me a lot when I'm over at his house visiting his sister. We are friends. He has told me about photography tricks. We also have talked about photography tricks. We also have talked about movies and we have talked about phones.

One day my friend and another girl were talking about how I like him and he heard them. He said all I have to do is lose a few pounds and gain a few looks and a few years.

Does this mean he doesn't like me or I'm too young or what?

Told in Tennessee

(A.) At 14, you are not too young to go with a 16-year-old boy if he is a good boy.

He may just be teasing you, but if you are overweight take his advice and lose the number of pounds you need to. Also keep your hair clean and shining, your face, hands and body impeccably clean, your makeup in order, and dress neatly and attractively.

GRADES: (Q.) Last semester I got bad grades.

This spring I have been studying hard and am making much better grades. But I am still on punishment for the bad grades I made in the past.

I bring my test papers and report cards home to my parents. They seem pleased, but when I ask to go some place like the pet store, they say no. I can't go to the movies either, or skating, or even to the drug store with my friends.

I am beginning to feel like an animal in a cage. Please help me to convince my parents that things are going to be worse unless I can have a little fun as well as work.

A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND THE HOLIDAY WEEKEND.

On a long weekend a lot of drivers are so anxious to get out to those country breezes that they throw all caution to the wind.

Because they're less cautious, it may pay for you to be a little more cautious. By driving a Volvo, for instance.

The Volvo body is so strong we've stacked seven Volvos on top of one another without crushing the one on the bottom. What gives Volvo this strength are the six steel pillars surrounding the passenger compartment and the thousands of spot welds holding the body together.

The trunk and engine compartments are designed differently. They crumple on impact at a pre-measured rate to absorb a collision before it reaches the passenger compartment.

On the sides, steel anti-intrusion bars protect the passengers from lateral impact. And in front and back, hydraulic shock absorbers on the bumpers absorb low-speed collisions.

But Volvo doesn't just protect you from "the other guy." It can keep you from becoming "the other guy."

Disc brakes are designed to resist fading, even after repeated panic stops. So Volvo has disc brakes on all four wheels. And Volvo doesn't stop there. It has a braking system with two independent sets of three-wheel disc brakes. If one set fails, the other still gives you about 80% of your braking power.

Of course, driver fatigue can be just as dangerous as mechanical failure. So Volvo comes with bucket seats that let you concentrate on the road instead of the pain in your back. The seat-backs are infinitely adjustable with a special adjustment that allows them to be made firmer or softer.

And since you really can't concentrate on what's ahead of you when you're worried about what's behind you, Volvo has a rear window defroster. As well as rear door locks that children can't open from inside.

So when making plans for a long weekend, maybe you should plan on buying a Volvo.

There's nothing like being prepared for the holidays.

SEE US FOR A TEST DRIVE OR FOR AUTHORIZED VOLVO PARTS AND SERVICE.

U.S. helping Iran military might

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, increasingly aware of the strategic importance of Iran and its resources, is undertaking a program to help that country achieve a major increase in its military might.

The program will include, among other things, the dispatch to Iran of a large number of U.S. military advisers, in addition to the considerable contingent already there. The advisers are to train Iranian military personnel in the use of helicopters and other sophisticated equipment involved in a $2 billion sales agreement which the Shah of Iran quietly concluded with the United States last year.

The equipment, to be purchased through the Pentagon at preferential prices, will be delivered over a period of five years.

In Tehran, the estimates are that there will be about 1,200 U.S. military personnel in Iran by the end of this year, including advisers, mechanics and maintenance personnel.

Developments during recent months have made both Iran, the third-largest oil producer in the world, and the United States anxious to solidify an already amicable relationship.

The United States has two principal reasons for attaching more importance than ever to the continued existence of a strong government, with adequate military forces in Iran:

—Iran occupies a critical strategic position in the oil-rich Persian Gulf. It has as its neighbors the Soviet Union, Afghanistan, Pakistan, Turkey and Iraq. Uncertainty here over eventual Russian intentions in the area gives Iran increased importance in the eyes of U.S. officials, who consider the Shah's government a major element of stability in an otherwise uncertain situation.

—Iranian oil could become of critical importance to the United States, Western Europe and Japan if the big oil-producing countries to the south and west of it ever go through with their threats to curtail supplies to the United States because of its pro-Israeli position. Although only 10 per cent of U.S. oil imports now come from Iran, U.S. officials say that within a few years the United States will be depending upon the Persian Gulf area for at least 25 per cent of its imported oil.

The Poconos come of age

STROUDSBURG— This year Memorial Day will mark the beginning of a new era in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania. Long a well-known and busy year-round resort center, the Poconos will this year take their place as one of the hottest entertainment centers in the country. The star-studded list of entertainers and celebrities that will play the mountains this year with the Spring-Summer season sounds like something usually associated with areas like Miami Beach, Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe.

Opening in the new Tarnment House for Memorial Day Weekend will be Jerry Lewis with Decoration Day Spectacular on Sunday, May 27th.

Stars that will be playing the well-known Pocono clubs and appearing at the Pocono State Fair will include: Sammy Davis, Jr.; Bob Hope; Sonny & Cher; Don Rickles; George Kirby; Lawrence Welk; Buck Owens; Helen Reddy; the Jackson Five; Tony Bennett; Shani Wallis, the Osmond Brothers; and Englebert Humperdink just to mention some of the headliners.

Mount Airy's famed Crystal Room will be packed nightly as will Poconmont's Star Room and Tarnments' new Tarnment House nightclub. Night spots like the popular Pocono Sheraton will continue their practice of offering nightly entertainment along with the well-known honeymoon resorts that book different entertainment every night of the week.

"There was a time when coming to the Poconos meant spending a quiet evening on the porch of your resort in a rocking chair," says Robert Uguccioni, Executive Director of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau. "But no more," he continues, "Today the Pocono area is a bustling nightlife center for entertainment, good food... even a place to catch a Broadway show."

The Pocono Playhouse in Mountainhome has been bringing Broadway to the Pocono offering top shows and top name entertainers for over 25 years.

For rock fans the Poconos will offer concerts this summer by groups like Guess Who; Dr. Hook and the Medicine Show; Bonnie Bramlett and are still negotiate for Santana; the Grateful Dead; the Allman Brothers; Loggins & Messina and Sly and the Family Stone. Even country-western fans will have their day in the Poconos this summer with the Country-western music schedule having begun in May and continuing through September with well-known entertainers like Wanda Jackson; Sonny James; Johnny Paycheck and many others.

This year the Poconos will take its place among the liveliest vacation resorts in the country. Already offering a full spectrum of sports, boating, swimming, fishing, scuba diving, water skiing, horseback riding, tennis, Indy auto racing anything in the line of sports for summer that you can name, they now add to this offering for the vacationer a complete summer of top name entertainment. The rocking chair has seen its day in Pennsylvania's Poconos... this is the year of the Entertainer.

Urge travel

Pennsylvania gas saver

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The state Bureau of Travel Development is trying to get maximum mileage out of the threatened gasoline shortage this summer. The bureau has embarked on a promotion campaign which says first, "there's a gasoline shortage, so drive conservatively," but adds, "four Pennsylvania by car this summer."

Tie it all together and you've got the theme of the campaign, "Traveling Pennsylvania is a gas saver."

It seems contradictory to say traveling in your car is the way to conserve gasoline this summer, but Bureau Director Howard M. Frank says it isn't so.

"It makes good sense to us that when there is concern about a gasoline shortage, people should plan regional trips in Pennsylvania and practice gasoline conservation rather than canceling all of their plans," Frank said.

"Of course, we also want to get Pennsylvanians to stay in Pennsylvania."

To implement the campaign, the bureau released Tuesday a series of suggested tours covering the 10 major regions of the state.

Frank said the tours, based on scenic beauty, historic sites and tourist attractions, could be covered in a day, week or month.

Accompanying the trips was also a list of 13 suggestions from State Police Commissioner James E. Barger on how motorists can conserve gasoline.

"Another name for our campaign might be 'Pennsylvania on a tankful,'" Frank said. "By practicing conservation, motorists could go on each of the trips on two tankfuls — one out and one back."

Frank said reports from persons in the travel industry indicate there will be a "substantial increase" in tourism this summer.

He said resort operators have had many calls and letters from persons both within Pennsylvania and from other states inquiring about the gasoline supply vacation plans," Frank said, "but at the same time, we tell them to expect possible shortages during peak travel periods."

Commerce Secretary Walter Aradet endorsed the tourist promotion campaign as a way to promote travel in the state and conserve gasoline at the same time.

"By following a few simple suggestions and planning trips within the commonwealth to enjoy some of our great attractions, this year's vacationer can end up spending even less on gasoline than last year despite recent price increases."

"It's a relatively simple matter to get much better gasoline mileage," Aradet said.

Barger's suggestions included drive a steady speed "below" the speed limit, make sure tires are inflated to the right pressure, have your car tuned regularly, avoid fast starts, travel via the shortest route, "think twice before using your air conditioner" and fill your tank before turning off a major highway onto secondary roads.

Small world? Not when lost

STROUDSBURG—The world can look large and frightening when you're a small dog, looking for a lost master. Please visit the Monroe County branch of the Pennsylvania SPCA, on Wild Animal Farm Road in Stroud Township, if you have lost a pet.

A tri-colored female Beagle, two years old, was found in Sciota. There is also a brown part Cocker Spaniel from Stroudsburg, and a black and tan female Shepherd from Stroud Township. A white part Hound with tan markings, six-year old female, was brought in to the shelter from East Stroudsburg. She seems to be about six years old.

There is a nice assortment of pets already looking for good new homes. Duke is a two-year old black and tan German Shepherd; Rex is all black, a nine-month male Labrador Retriever. Major is a housebroken two-year old part Great Pyrenees, buff colored.

Ellie is part Keeshond, a six-month gray female, housebroken. There is another part Keeshond female, eight months old, that was brought to the shelter after it had been abandoned in Easton. Russ is a year old male Shepherd, black and tan and housebroken.

In addition, six part Shepherd pups are available, eight weeks old, black and tan, four males and two females; a three-month Collie-Husky male pup, tan and white; black and white part Collie, ten-week female; three Spaniel-Setter pups three months old, black and white; a black and white male part Cocker Spaniel six weeks old; six cute kittens, assorted colors, eight-week females; and one domestic female cat, mostly white with gray and brown markings.

All pups have received distemper inoculations, and all cats and kittens are housebroken to litter pans.

The shelter is open for adoptions and reclaiming lost pets from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. Edwin J. Cantrill, resident agent, investigates and corrects promptly all complaints of cruelty and neglect. The phone number is 421-6761.

New car first prize

Hemlock honors salesmen

HAWLEY, Pa. — Top 1972 sales awards, a new Mercury Marquis sedan was presented to Harold S. Guttlober of Montclair, N. J. for his leading sales performance at Hemlock Farms in the Poconos during the past year.

Raymond S. Tower, Vice President and General Manager of Home Smith International, Ltd., developer of the year round recreational community, presented the keys to the new car to Guttlober during ceremonies at Hemlock Farms this week.

Winning salesmen in the Winter Carnival contest also were honored for their outstanding performance over the seven week winter period.

An all expense trip for two to Spain and hearty congratulations from Mr. Tower went to William Bianchini of Jersey City, N. J. Bianchini topped all salesmen for the winter sales season. His land sales at the four season recreational community were 50 per cent ahead of the nearest other salesman, Mr. Tower pointed out.

Second place in the Winter Carnival contest was won by Gary A. Lacken of Milford, Pa. He received tickets to a hit Broadway play, dinner for two at 21 Club in New York and overnight accommodations at the New York Hilton.

In addition, Mr. Tower presented Lacken with a check for $500 in recognition of his sales record.

Lou de Guzis of Hemlock Farms placed third in the contest. Mr. de Guzis also received the New York dinner and theater award plus a check for $500.

Runners up during the Winter Carnival included Dennis Tomaine of Scranton, Pa., John Vallone of Howard Beach, N. Y., Timothy McCool of Henryville, Pa., and Harold Guttlober of Montclair, N. J.

How to choose grass seed

Puzzled about choosing grass seed? The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service has prepared a free pamphlet, "How to Buy Lawn Seed," (G-169) which can help you select the variety best suited for your lawn.

Among other suggestions, it urges you to carefully read the label on the seed package Federal and state seed laws — backed up by random sampling and testing — require that labels contain truthful and adequate information about the quality of the seed.

When you dream of a place in the country, you probably picture a place like

THE HAMLET

- Situated in a high woodland area of the beautiful Pocono Mountains.
- Committed to nature, with buildings designed to become part of the natural surroundings.
- Lake, trout streams, waterfalls, picnic areas.
- Swimming Pool, Tennis Courts.
- Twelve miles of horseback riding trails, hiking, bicycling.

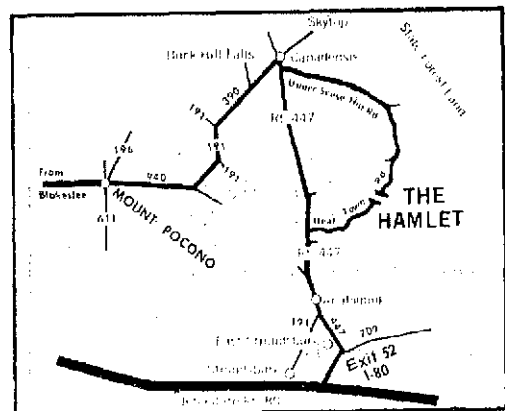

1 to 1 3/4 Acre Homesites

The Hamlet is a private community designed for approximately 300 families. It's a choice tract of 460 acres near the village of Canadensis, located off scenic Creek Road (Rt. 447).

A private hunting preserve since 1927, the Hamlet is being developed and sold only by the owners themselves. Because they want it the way they dreamed it. The kind of country place you've probably dreamed of yourself.

For further information call: In Pennsylvania (717) 595-7801 or (717) 424-1348. In New York (212) 254-1811.

DIRECTIONS: The Hamlet is located near Canadensis, Pa. Take scenic Rt. 447 and turn right on Beartown Road 1 1/2 miles.

New development at Stillwater

POCONO SUMMIT — North Shore at Stillwater Lake Estates, Pocono Summit, Pa., is a new distinguished private community, composed of 19 lakefront and 12 lakeview estates on Stillwater Lake. Some are over an acre in size.

Developed by Malvin Landau and George M. Levy, North Shore will be a one hour and eighteen minute drive from the George Washington Bridge, upon completion of Rt. 80 in September of this year.

North Shore will be a sophisticated styling of homes and lands so that one will compliment the other.

All restrictions of the Stillwater Lake Property Owners Association will be adhered to, plus a new ecological restriction introduced for the first time in Pennsylvania by Landau and Levy — the banning of cutting any tree on the estate until a residence is to be erected and then only those trees that would adversely affect construction.

The remaining lands of the estate will have selective cutting and pruning of dead trees or brush. All trees along the lakefront must remain.

The developers want to create a "see thru mirror" image, in that residents can look out but no one can look in.

Landau and Levy recognize that beauty of the land cannot belong to one individual and considered the future utilization of the lands.

The lakefront and lakeview estates are served by all weather roads constructed for safety and exceeding the requirements of the county subdivision regulations. Such roads are to be maintained by the individual estate owner.

Swimming, anyone?

Two tips for hedge trimming

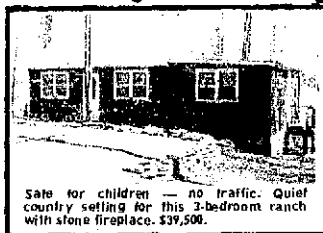

With more of family life than ever before expanding to the out-of-doors, hedges that can serve as "walls" for the outside rooms take on increasing importance. Pruning a hedge is a necessary part of exterior decorating, and these suggestions from the American Association of Nurserymen can be useful.

While hedges can be pruned as often as necessary during the growing season, don't prune any particular branch of a growing or immature hedge closer than six to eight inches to the old growth. Follow that tip and you can look forward to a dense growth development. Mature hedges may be cut to the old wood or even into it without adverse effect.

Rustic Comfortable and Charming

THE CHALET

Standing on top of the spiral staircase looking over the ruggedly handsome living room is the best possible introduction to THE CHALET.

Scandinavian flavoring topped with practical, comfortable living makes this house the best buy of its type anywhere.

Full log construction, two bedrooms, and a spacious sleeping loft provide a solid home with the capacity to accommodate a large family plus all those good friends you will want to have visit.

As in all our homes, THE CHALET comes with complete trimmings . . . there are no expensive extras or hidden costs.

For those who wish even more room than our basic CHALET model we can extend the house in length multiples of four feet, and will be pleased to quote you on any larger size you may require.

THE CHALET guarantees a life time of pleasure on top of solid value.

If gracious living is what you are looking for . . . you have arrived!

Buying a homesite is a serious investment . . . one you are going to want to live with for a long time. Don't let giveaways and freebies sway you. Compare before you buy.

At Tanglwood, you won't get dishes or a wig or a radio or the like. All you'll get is the opportunity to invest in the Poconos' finest homesite land.

Why's Tanglwood your best investment? Many reasons. Our four-season community is on Lake Wallenpaupack, Pennsylvania's largest inland lake with 52 miles of shoreline, which means the entire spectrum of aqua fun and sport is yours to enjoy. Tanglwood offers a choice of lakefront, lakeview and fairway homesites — with water lines and fire hydrants to all lots. We have our own Fazio-designed championship golf course, our own full-facilities marina and private beach area on 'the big lake,' and seven miles from the development, our own major Eastern ski area on Paper Birch Mountain. Tanglwood also adjoins 18,000 acres of game lands for the state's best hunting and fishing. And these are just some of the reasons.

Another important consideration when investing in Pocono land is the developers. Tanglwood developers are businessmen with established and respected reputations. They are men who, with their families, have long enjoyed the beauty and recreational facilities of the Poconos, and who intend to personally enjoy them for many years to come. They are totally committed to long-range maintenance and conservation of Tanglwood's land, waters and properties.

Go ahead, take the giveaways. But don't fall into the trap of thinking that gimmicks are synonymous with value. See Tanglwood before you invest. You owe it to yourself.

Land title insurance helps buyer

Many people know that land title insurance protects the home buyer's ownership rights against claims by others who believe they too have an interest in the property.

However, what not too many people realize is that the land title industry contributes substantially to another benefit to the home buyer: Without the availability of land title insurance, mortgage money to finance the purchase of that dream house would not be as readily available to buyers, the Pennsylvania Land Title Association points out.

Look at it this way. Suppose you were going to lend money to someone to buy a property — in effect, grant a mortgage loan. You'd want to protect your investment. So does the mortgage company. That's why it checks out the creditworthiness of the buyer and his ability to pay.

But it also wants to make sure that the property has clear title. After all, the property is the prime security for the mortgage loan. A mortgage title insurance policy provides information and protection against risks which may not be disclosed during title search. These are the so-called hidden risks. It also protects against loss resulting from errors.

Important as title insurance is in making mortgage money available by protecting the mortgage investment, that's only one way in which it helps provide mortgage funds to home buyers, according to the Pennsylvania Land Title Association.

Buying and selling mortgages is a big business today. It's not at all unusual for a mortgage lender to sell the mortgage he has on your home to another lender. In so doing, he replenishes his money supply, thus enabling him to issue other mortgage loans to more buyers and investors.

Poconos hold down rates

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. — With reports coming in daily on the rising costs of travel in Europe and other foreign countries and predictions of higher prices for meals, accommodations and souvenir items in most of the popular European countries, the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, long a well-known and much visited resort area, are delighted to report . . . "no rate increases this season."

Due in great part to the practice of the American Plan at both large and small Pocono resorts, visitors are able to plan well ahead of time just how much their vacation will cost.

"That's the real beauty of the American Plan," reports Glenn Kissel, General Manager of Pocono Manor Inn, one of the largest and most popular of the Pocono resorts. "Our guests come here knowing ahead of time how much they will be spending almost to the dollar." Kissel continues; "There's no shock when we hand them the bill."

The American Plan goes back a long way in the Poconos . . . probably from the early resort days in the late 1800s and early 1900s when it was fashionable to choose a resort for its fine food more than the activities offered. Today's modern resorts must offer both excellent cuisine along with a wide array of activities including swimming, boating, horseback riding and tennis.

What to look for Symptoms of sick soil

You may not be the "doctor" when it comes to diagnosing and treating the serious ailments that can afflict the soil in your yard and garden, but there are "first aid" measures you can take — and the people who are experts in such matters have some pointers that can help you recognize when and how to administer corrective and preventive treatment.

The subject, of course, is fertilizers for your soil. The only way to have a thorough and accurate study of basic soil conditions is with an actual soil analysis performed by your County Agricultural Agent or the State Agricultural Experiment Station. Your nursery garden center, with the soil test information, can help you plan a sound fertilizing program. Once that is accomplished, there are a variety of symptoms that can let you know when certain nutrients are needed to maintain the healthy growth of your plants.

The remedies for the different conditions you may observe are in a wide selection of organic and non-organic fertilizers, most of them available under commercial names at the garden center.

Here are signs to look for if one of the important nutrients, nitrogen, is deficient in your soil: erosion in the topsoil; a very sandy soil; yellowing or stunted foliage in the plants growing in the soil; early-falling leaves from the trees.

Subsidy programs successful

WASHINGTON — George C. Martin, President of the National Association of Home Builders, today warned that "the pipeline for housing low and moderate income families effectively and decently is emptying."

"Today we are in a hiatus, the subsidy programs which have proved successful in a state of suspension," Martin said in an address to the National Forest Products Association. "The Department of Housing and Urban Development is examining and evaluating the role of the Federal Government in housing and housing finance, what its proper role should be, and how this role can be carried out."

Pointing to the effectiveness of the Government's Section 235 and 236 and Farmers Home 502 interest assistance programs in housing 3 one-third million low and moderate income Americans in the past 4½ years, Martin said:

"We believe the Federal role in housing is inescapable; it must be involved. And we believe its involvement in the interest rate subsidy programs has been a successful involvement, the relatively small number of highly publicized failures to the contrary.

Martin said that while the Hud study, in which NAHB is cooperating, is under way, "the pipeline is emptying."

"Getting the flow going in whatever form is decided upon is a troublesome problem, and an expensive one," he said. "Here again, we find ourselves confronted with the common problem of instability — the stop and go situation which creates such havoc within our industries."

Martin also said the housing industry is deeply concerned over the flow of mortgage money and rising interest rates.

"Right now we're seeing more and more evidence of the classic response to booming inflation — tighter and tighter money."

He said that the flow of savings into thrift institutions has begun to slow measurably and all interest rates are rising.

The steady rise in the cost of mortgage money evident over the past few months "could well lead to a severe credit crunch toward the end of 1973. And that crunch will be felt."

Don't economize on seed

If your ambition is to have the "show place" lawn in the neighborhood, don't economize on grass seed. "The better the seed, the better your lawn" is a pretty good axiom.

However, there is more to it than that. In addition to buying good seed, it is equally important that you use the varieties that grow best in your part of the country. This and other helpful information is contained in a pamphlet entitled "How to Buy Lawn Seed," written by seed marketing experts of the U. S.

Department of Agriculture.

You may get it free by sending a postcard to Office of Communication, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

NAHB says: House America

WASHINGTON — The president of the National Association of Home Builders today challenged the Administration to give "a clear and unmistakable signal" that it is "ready and willing to get on with the job of housing America — all Americans."

In a speech to the 42nd annual convention of The National Housing Conference, George C. Martin, of Louisville, Ky., charged that the Administration's freeze on housing subsidy programs would deny the nation's commitment made for almost a quarter of a century to achieve the goals of "a decent home and a suitable living environment for every American family."

"That goal was embodied in the Housing Act of 1949 as a statement of purpose," Martin said.

"Are we to rob tomorrow's realization of a better life, a better environment by today's questionable economies?"

Martin asked how the Administration could reconcile the shutdown of Federal housing subsidy programs with the statement made by the President in 1970; "The housing of our people is and must be a top national priority."

Martin said that two of these subsidy programs authorized by Sections 235 and 236 of the Housing Act of 1968 alone had resulted in construction of 332,900 ownership units and 323,293 rental units by the end of 1972. He quoted Housing and Urban Development Department statistics showing average income of $6,500 for families that purchased homes and $1,500 less for renters.

This disproves, Martin said, Administration attempts to discredit the programs on grounds that they "benefit the well-to-do but shortchange the poor."

Martin said the housing produced under these and other Federal programs for low and moderate income families had by improving living conditions, relieved social unease and may have contributed to a four-year period of "relative quietude in our communities."

"Yet the programs have come under sudden, snowballing and misdirected criticism — such baseless criticism that undoubtedly influenced in good part the freeze," he said.

"Hundreds of thousands of families are already benefiting from quality housing which they could not have afforded but for these programs."

The latter statement, he said, came from the President's own 4th annual report to Congress on housing goals last June.

Martin also referred to a study of the subsidy programs made by Dr. Anthony Downs, noted real estate economist, bearing out the soundness of the programs.

In addition to the tragic effect on housing aspirations of lower income families, the general economic impact of the stoppage will be depressing, Martin said.

Not only will builders who have gotten involved in these programs be hurt financially but so will their employees and others "who furnish the thousand and one things that go into the building of a housing unit."

Noting the long lead time involved in planning and production, Martin said, "Housing is simply too big and too complicated a business to turn on and off at will."

Martin pledged that the housing industry would continue in its determination to house the nation adequately and cited its performance.

Jinni in a bottle

Make mini-environment

If you're an artist, it could be a new medium in which to express yourself. If you're a gardener, it could be a way to discover talents you may not have known you possess. And if you're neither, it could be a most intriguing new experiment. It's a garden in a bottle.

Preparing the garden will be a challenge, but an enjoyable one. Then watching the magic that happens as the bottle becomes a self-contained little world of its own — making its own atmosphere, feeding the living plants that grow in it — is a years-long pleasure.

The members of the American Association of Nurserymen are naturally the authorities on the subject, and they have several suggestions to help you get started with your project. It all begins with a bottle, of course, and any good sized one will do. If you have one you've been saving because of an interesting shape or special significance, all the better.

First to go in is about an inch of gravel, just fine enough to fit through the neck of the bottle. The soil on top of the gravel, a few inches deep, should be dry when you put it in — and a funnel of some sort will be helpful at this stage. A somewhat sandy mixture is suggested, with a bit of crushed charcoal to assure porosity and aeration. The garden center will have a prepared soil if you would rather not mix your own.

Now comes the tricky part, and your chance to express your creativity: planting the miniature garden. You will practice some of the skills used by people who build those little ships in bottles, and a couple of homemade tools will be helpful. A spoon and a fork small enough to fit into the bottle, with long, slender extensions of wood or wire tied to them, will serve as your spade and rake in the planting process. Use very small plants such as ferns, mosses, violets, tree seedlings of hollies, junipers, hemlock and other similar materials. Certain miniature roses enjoy life in a bottle.

Whatever you put in the garden, keep in mind that the object is to create an attractive scene — with a main display of plants, a background, some open space, all the elements you would include in a full-size landscaping.

Many buyers can't afford them

Closing costs can be shocker

By MORTON C. PAULSON
Dow Jones-Ottaway News

After 11-months of intensive searching, a young couple in Miami, Fla., found a home they liked and could afford — or so they thought. The $3,065 down payment was no problem. But then came a shocker! There'd be nearly $2,000 in "settlement costs."

Heartsick, the couple withdrew their offer! They didn't have enough cash.

Theirs wasn't an isolated problem. An estimated 4.5 million homes will change hands this year, and many of the buyers — as well as some sellers — will be billed for settlement or closing charges that many authorities consider exorbitant and, for some items, unnecessary.

Are there ways to cut the costs? To a degree, yes.

First, a quick review of settlement costs. They are an assortment of charges and fees, over and above the purchase price, imposed in connection with the transfer of ownership in real property. The package varies from place to place, but for the buyer it typically includes fees for lawyers, title examinations, mortgage-initiation or paper work, title insurance, transfer taxes, documentary stamps, recording the mortgage and deed, site survey, and credit report.

The seller is likely to have to pay a real-estate agent (the normal sales commission is 6 per cent of the selling price) and for a termite inspection. He may also elect to retain a lawyer. Both buyers and sellers may be forced to pay "points," or lump-sum payments often demanded by mortgage lenders because of statutory interest ceilings.

In a 1971 study, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Veterans Administration (VA) found that the total settlement costs for $16,000 to $20,000 houses with government-insured mortgages averaged $1,691, including points. For houses in the $20,000 to $24,000 range, the average of $1,351 in San Antonio, Texas, to $3,219 in Newark, N.J.

Many of the charges must be paid, but some may be avoided or minimized. Here are some specialists' suggestions for reducing closing costs:

— Whether you're a buyer or seller, hire a lawyer — but not necessarily one recommended by a lender, a title insurance company, or a real-estate broker. Get your own man — preferably an expert in real-estate closings — and, if possible, arrange to pay him an hourly rate rather than a flat fee or a percentage of the mortgage. "Searching the title, handling the paper work, and attending the closing shouldn't take more than an hour and a half or two hours unless complications arise," says Martin Lobel, a Washington lawyer and former legislative assistant to Wisconsin Sen. William Proxmire, who has sponsored legislation to limit settlement costs. "And if there are defects in the title, the seller should pay for clearing them up."

— A seller can avoid real-estate brokerage costs — perhaps $1,800 for a $30,000 house — by foregoing the services of a real-estate agent. If you're conversant with local realty values, have time to show your property, and don't mind haggling, this could be worth considering. On the other hand, a good agent can save you time and trouble and may be able to net you a better price. Some brokers will work for less than 6 per cent, especially if business is slow.

— Don't be misled by builders who advertise "no closing costs." You'll have less to pay initially in such a deal but it will just add unavoidable costs to the price of the house — and you'll pay interest on that additional amount.

— Ask your lawyer if any of the items on the settlement sheet can be eliminated, such as the survey or title search, or if some of the charges can be negotiated.

— Obtain a copy of the other party's settlement sheet and check for duplication of settlement charges! You both could be paying for the same things.

— The mortgage lender probably will require you to buy title insurance that protects him from any loss arising from a cloud on the title. If you want to protect yourself you'll have to buy a separate policy.

'Pocohanne'

Land between mountains

The Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania which extend over 2400 square miles of woodlands, mountains, lakes and ponds and streams that number somewhere in the thousands, take their famous name from the historic Indian word, "Pocohanne" meaning the land between the mountains.

This land of lush green meadows, untouched forests and breathtaking scenes of natural splendor, settled in the 1700s was destined always to be a resort area, which is defined by Webster as a frequently visited place; a haunt and a place providing recreation and entertainment especially to vacationers.

Now comprised of four distinct counties, the Poconos function as one enormous resort area offering everything imaginable in sporting activity, luxury accommodations or rustic campsites, well-known entertainment . . . all the needed ingredients for a relaxing, fun-filled vacation for the family, the couple on their honeymoon and the sportsman.

Carbon County in the western area of the Pocono

Mountain chain once was the site of "Mauch Chunk" the famed resort area of the 1800s that drew the millionaires of that day to this area of breathtaking scenic views that earned it the name of the "Switzerland of America." Today, the home of one of those wealthy visitors has been turned into a museum . . . the Asa Packer Mansion in the present day town of Jim Thorpe once the legendary Mauch Chunk — The natural beauty of Carbon County is without a doubt its greatest asset.

Agnes McCartney, Director of Carbon County's Tourist Promotion Agency describes her job as "a constant effort to preserve what is already here" and at the same time providing facilities and services for the thousands and thousands of tourists that visit the county annually attracted by its natural beauty, its sandy beaches, its hiking and riding trails and its unlimited ponds and lakes where sports such as fishing, swimming and white water canoeing keep the area busy throughout the Spring-Summer season.

A major attraction of the western Pocono area is the Beltzville Lake area at Lehighton. Here the vacationer can enjoy the finest in outdoor summer fun; boating, swimming and hiking through some of the most scenic countryside that can be found anywhere.

Monroe County is the most centrally located of the four Pocono counties and can best be described as the "heart of activity" in the Poconos. Here the visitor will find the large, well-known resorts and a multitude of motor inns and fine restaurants. The Pocono Playhouse in Mountainhome, Pa. brings Broadway to the Poconos every summer and 1973 promises to be the year of the "Star" with an impressive roster of Hollywood and Broadway entertainers booked throughout the summer at the many large Pocono resorts.

A center for the shopper, Monroe County is not to be outdone for scenic beauty with Big Pocono, the largest of the Pocono Mountains which offers a lovely state park on its plateau-like top.

In amazing variety

Birdwatchers paradise

GOULDSBORO, Pa. — With spring busting out all over, bird watching — and bird listening — have again assumed their seasonal importance as national pastimes. If you're a center-city dweller who has to be content with the sight of an occasional robin, or a suburbanite who has a big day when he sees a cardinal or a thrush, you'll be interested in a bird report from the Poconos.

An ecologist who surveyed the 800-acre tract on which the Big Bass Lake leisure home community is located, noted that over 225 different species of birds are residents or migratory visitors in the area.

When you can turn your binoculars and your ears loose on that kind of treasure, you've really hit the jackpot.

The ecologist was the late Dr. E. Everett MacNamara, professor of Environmental Science at Lehigh University. A noted geologist and research specialist, he was a soil scientist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, served as a conservation biologist on Long Island and for the State of New Jersey, and carried out environmental studies in the tropics and both polar regions. His evaluation of the area around Big Bass Lake was one of the principal reasons why the land was chosen by the Larsen brothers for developing the community.

Dr. MacNamara's consensus of bird species in the Big Bass region discovered not only common varieties like catbirds, mourning doves and kingfishers, but dozens of lesser-known birds that nest there each year or come as seasonal or occasional visitors. The long list of regular nesters includes the great blue heron, Cooper's hawk, Killdeer, spotted sandpiper, yellow-billed cuckoo, great horned owl, ruby-throated hummingbird, great-crested fly-catcher, mockingbird, at least eight kinds of warblers, and many others.

Regular migrants include the Canada goose, blue goose, loon, whistling swan, many kinds of ducks, and others from golden and bald eagles on down to swamp sparrows.

It's refreshing to know that this great variety of birds and waterfowl are flourishing in their natural habitat, as they have for centuries, in an area within 85 miles of New York City and Philadelphia. In fact, some species — wild turkeys, for example — are probably more numerous in the Poconos today than they were a century ago, thanks to the tides of the State of Pennsylvania.

Many people ask us, "How can you build a 3-bedroom, all aluminum home, for $17,990?" It's a logical question because you generally relate quality with price. With most products there is a definite relationship, but in our case we believe you will be interested to know how we can build and sell our quality home at the low price which we do.

FIRST, we build 20 different style homes. They are not pre-cut, pre-fabricated but custom built. Our construction crews are thoroughly trained on OUR HOMES, which result in great labor savings.

SECOND, when you build as many homes as we do (We are Northeast Pa.'s LARGEST BUILDERS), we buy a large amount of materials and our savings are consequently great, which is reflected in the selling price of our homes.

THIRD, we are experienced. After years of building in this area we feel now that we have the finest and most efficiently laid out home that we can come up with at such a low price.

LASTLY, we try hard. We are vitally interested in our customers and want to build them a home that both of us can be proud of.

Marshall Assoc. changes image

HAWLEY — A totally new corporate image was unveiled today for Marshall Associates Realtors, a prominent Wayne and Pike county real estate company, by its president James G. Marshall of Hawley.

The update look for the former James G. Marshall agency was designed by Gann-Dawson, Inc., advertising and design corporation of Scranton, Pennsylvania.

The bold, crisp corporate symbol is a modified circle composed of the initials MAR. Its coloration is two shades of forest green and one shade of lake blue, much like the green trees and blue waters of the lake country. The corporation logotype is a newly designed face connotating boldness and stability, and it reflects the aggressiveness of the growth of the big lake country.

Mr. Marshall revealed the new symbol and logotype has been adapted to all the company's print materials, to all outdoor signage, and will be used in all advertisements for the real estate company.

Principals of Marshall Associates Realtors are, James G. Marshall, president; William E. Gormley, vice-president of Tafton and Nicholas W. D'Andrea, secretary-treasurer of Hawley.

Corporate headquarters for MAR are located on Route 6, Hawley at Lake Wallenpaupack, branch offices are located on Route 6 — west of Honesdale, in Ledgesdale and in Hamlin.

Bathrooms lend style

Families building a new home should not forget that bathrooms are perhaps the most permanent — and surely the most often neglected — of all the rooms they're planning, advises a leading design engineer.

"The kitchen also is a difficult room to change once installed," says Borg-Warner Plumbing Products designer Stan Korol, "but this area is a focal point for new home planners. Bathrooms normally get little of the planning attention lavished on the kitchen."

"It's only after the family has moved in and becomes settled that they realize their stark white, bland bathrooms are totally out of step with the other decors they've so carefully planned. But by that time it's often too late."

Most people would be surprised at the minimal extra cost of color bathtubs, lavatories and toilets, Korol explains and once they're installed the decorating possibilities are endless.

"Modest upgrading of the bathroom fixtures themselves is another route to increased style and convenience," he says. "Such higher grade fixtures offer improved design and function at a surprisingly low cost."

Family rooms, bedrooms and other "dry rooms" are relatively easy to improve at any time, he continues.

Capitol opinion

Clean and green farmland

Capitol Opinion

By JOHN BARRETTE

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Now the battle begins to make sure "clean and green" relates to farmland, not to a method by which land speculators clean up on green stuff — money.

Gov. Milton J. Shapp sounded a warning the day after voters approved a constitutional amendment to give farmland tax breaks.

Shapp said he would veto any legislation to put the amendment into effect which would benefit speculators instead of farmers. "We're not going to let this become a haven for speculators," he said.

The amendment, the only constitutional issue on the May primary ballot, gained almost 3 - to - 1 support of those voting.

"Clean and green" was the slogan used by the Shapp Administration and farm and environmental groups backing approval of the amendment.

That tag is designed to designate the move as one that will protect farmland from the encroachment of suburban developments — shopping centers, subdivisions, parking lots.

The idea was to change the state charter so farmers won't be driven off their land by high taxes.

Assessed valuation applied equally to farmland in a rural county and farms near suburban developments resulted in higher taxes in the suburban areas.

That was because the value of the land soared due to nearby developments.

The legislature should write a tight law that allows farmers near suburban developments to have their land taxed on the basis of use rather than its potential value.

New Jersey, California, Indiana, Michigan and other states have adopted similar plans, according to farm groups, with varied success.

The New Jersey law, passed in 1965, created a few problems which some farm groups say allowed speculators to benefit. The New Jersey law was later amended to correct that problem.

Pennsylvania's law must be written with a tight definition of what is farming and with a penalty feature if farmland is sold and eventually used for development.

One method is to force those who sell land for development, or buy it and farm it only a few years before developing it, to pay a higher tax retroactively.

Yet some farm interests are certain that their counterparts in the real estate business will fight quietly in the legislative arena for a law that contains an "inadequate" definition of farmland and a weak penalty.

White hybrid marigolds

By FREDERICK C. KLEIN
Dow Jones-Ottaway News

LOMPOC, Calif. — Here in the W. Allee Burpee Co. greenhouse in this lush flower-growing valley stands row after row of 2½-foot-tall hybrid marigolds bearing large, white blossoms.

Well, they are almost white. "If you look real close, you'll see a slight yellow cast around the center," says John Mondry, director of research for the company, which is the nation's largest catalog seed house. "We're trying to get rid of the yellow and get a pure white. We're betting we'll have one in a year or two."

As even the most casual gardener knows, the mere fact that Burpee has been able to grow a marigold that is just a shade off pure-white is notable enough. Until a few years ago, the popular plant was available commercially only in shades of yellow, orange, red and cream. Burpee, however, has gone all-out to get a white one. Among other things, it is offering a $10,000 prize to the person who chances upon one in his garden and sends in seed that can produce another.

Burpee's progress toward obtaining the "great white marigold" is illustrative of what's going on in flower gardening generally. Professional flower breeders are applying techniques previously used mainly in the development of food crops to produce plants that are more vigorous, uniform and disease-resistant and are freer-flowering and easier to grow than anything that has been available before.

Roughly two-thirds of the flower varieties that home gardeners will plant this spring didn't even exist 20 years ago.

Some of the progress being made toward obtaining better flower varieties stems from rather unusual methods. One is the use of the chemical colchicine as a seed treatment. Colchicine is extracted from the crocus plant and is used in treating gout in humans. When applied in a solution to plant seed, it doubles the seed's chromosome count, producing plants that are coarser and harder than untreated varieties.

One notable result of colchicine treatment is the improvement in the Rudbeckia daisy. The Rudbeckia used to be spindly, small-flowered and yellow. Now, the species comes in maroon, mahogany and gold as well as yellow, bears flowers up to seven inches across and is quite a bit more rugged.

Another method is the treatment of plants with X-rays to encourage genetic mutations. Six years ago Glenn Goldsmith Seeds Inc., a Gilroy, Calif., wholesaler, crossed X-ray treated snap-dragon seeds with normal varieties to produce the "butterfly" snap, whose flat, open flowers are a good deal larger and showier than the cup-shaped kinds the plant previously produced.

However, no flower better exemplifies the extent to which hybridizing has changed the American garden than the marigold. Work to improve the flower has been led by David Burpee, son of the founder of W.A. Burpee Co., who headed the firm for more than 50 years before his recent retirement. Mr. Burpee, 80 years old, now is an adviser and consultant to the company, which was acquired by General Foods Corp. in 1970. "Consultant means that I give them advice when they ask for it," he says with a smile. "Adviser means I give it to them even if they don't ask."

Mr. Burpee's infatuation with the marigold (he has led the campaign to have it declared the national flower) dates back more than 50 years, to the time when a fungus disease made sweet peas, then Burpee's best-selling item, unsuitable for planting in areas that had hot summers — meaning most of the U.S.

"We needed something new to sell, so we turned to the marigold," he says. "It was pretty enough, but it needed lots of improvement. The flowers were too small, it was a late bloomer, its color range was limited to yellows and oranges, and its foliage smelled terrible."

After several years of experimenting, Mr. Burpee made the first commercially successful marigold cross in the late 1930's — a large orange American with a smaller French red.

"A missionary in China came across the odorless marigold," he says. He had read an article I'd written, and he offered to sell me the seed for $25 an ounce. That was a pretty fancy price in those days, but I said okay. It turned out so well I sent him a bonus of $200."

(As it finally turned out, smelly marigolds remain the most popular types. Their turpentine-like odor keeps away rabbits, gardeners say.)

Widening the marigold's color range proved to be especially difficult, though, so in 1953 Burpee instituted its $10,000 offer to the home gardener who found one with pure-white flowers 2½ inches across. White is an especially desirable color because it goes well with all others in displays.

Pulitzer Prize winner

Looking for Academy Award

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
UPI Senior Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actor-writer Jason Miller learned that he had won a 1973 Pulitzer Prize for drama while on a Manhattan movie set acting a role he hopes will win him an Academy Award.

Miller, 32, who wrote the Broadway hit "That Championship Season," completed filming of "The Exorcist" for Warner Bros. this week. In his first film appearance he plays the difficult role of the Rev.

Damien Karras, a Catholic priest of tortured conscience who wins a battle with the devil but loses his life in the struggle.

For a few weeks Miller will have the leisure to enjoy fame and decide just where he wants to go in his parallel careers. Soon he will go to work on a film script of "That Championship Season," then he'd like to write another play. He does not want to give up acting.

"I think I can balance both careers," he said. "Acting is public creativity. Writing is done in solitude. And both are essential needs to me. One career feeds another."

Acting can be the best training ground for a playwright, as in the case of Shakespeare, Paddy Chayevsky, Tennessee Williams, Harold Pinter and John Osborne.

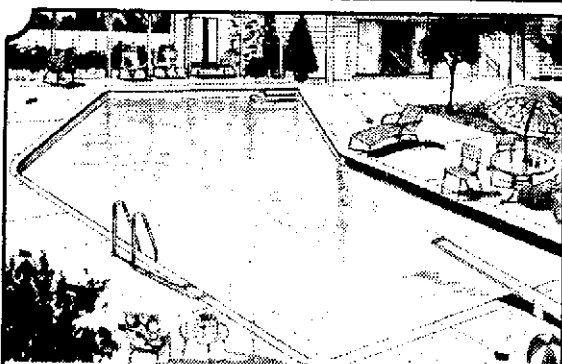

"Be an actor," he advises aspiring playwrights. "One way to starve is as good as another and it forges character."

The slight but athletic-looking Miller worked as a truck driver, waiter, messenger, and welfare investigator and was on unemployment insurance while turning out three one-act plays and a full length one, "Nobody Hears a Broken Drum." They were given short-lived off-Broadway productions.

When he wrote "That Championship Season," which is rooted in his Scranton, Pa., youth, he took it to a half-dozen producers, all of whom turned it down to their subsequent grief. They said its language was "too coarse" and its anti-Semitism would be offensive to Jewish theatergoers.

HELLO!! I'M WAITING!!

I am a very young, raised cedar, ranch home, and I was destined for the year-round retirement living comfort of my present owners. One of whom died recently. I was built on a large lot in the "Promised Land Pocono area", very near a private, peaceful lake, where fish abound. I have 2 bedrooms, beautiful bath, comfortable fireplace and full, cemented, heated basement. My owners have given me beautiful furnishings, which are to remain with me and their agent will be happy to show me off. Call him today!! (Sc1371)
